DAVID POILE PRESIDENT OF HOCKEY OPERATIONS/GENERAL MANAGER

Set to begin his 36th consecutive season as an NHL general manager, which will make him the longest tenured GM in League history, Nashville Predators President of Hockey Operations/General Manager David Poile has spent 35 consecutive years at the helm of a franchise (20 with Nashville, 15 with Washington) dating back to Aug. 30, 1982 when he was hired by the Washington Capitals. He is the only general manager in NHL history to lead two different clubs for 1,000 games and 500 victories, and on Dec. 16, 2014 against Boston, Poile won his 1,171st game as an NHL GM to pass Harry Sinden and move into second place in wins by a GM. He enters 2016-17 ranked second all-time in both games (2,662) and wins (1,280) by a general manager, trailing only Glen Sather (2,700 games, 1,319 wins).

After the Predators became Western Conference Champions and Poile advanced to his first Stanley Cup Final, he was named the 2017 General Manager of the Year at the 2017 NHL Awards in Las Vegas, his first such honor after being nominated for award in each of its first three years of existence (2010, 2011 and 2012), while also receiving a sixth-place finish in 2015. Poile is one of the most influential men in the sport, evidenced by his spot on the NHL's Competition Committee all 12 years of existence, appointment to the Hockey Hall of Fame Selection Committee in 2014, and involvement with USA Hockey, highlighted by his service as General Manager of the United States Olympic Team for the 2014 Winter Games in Sochi.

While Poile continues to use effective drafting and development of home-grown players as the foundation for the Nashville Predators, his blueprint for success has necessitated the welcoming of high-octane offensive performers to the organization and bold trades in recent seasons. Dating back to the 2013 Trade Deadline, Poile and his staff have been aggressive in acquiring young, talented prospects with high offensive ceilings, and proven NHL stars via trade and free agency to supplement Nashville's drafted talent. This formula helped the Predators to their longest postseason run in franchise history – their first trip to the Stanley Cup Final in franchise history – in 2016-17, shattering nearly every Predators postseason record in the process. Under Poile's guidance, the Predators have reached the Stanley Cup Playoffs in each of the past three seasons and 10 of the past 13 campaigns.

Poile's most impactful moves over the past four-plus seasons have been on the trade front, with his two most recent blockbusters being among the largest one-for-one trades in NHL history. On Jan. 6, 2016, Poile acquired the No. 1 center the team has coveted since Day One of the franchise by getting 23-year-old All-Star Ryan Johansen from the Columbus Blue Jackets, and then on July 28, 2017, he signed Johansen to an eight-year, $64 million contract, the largest contract Poile has ever offered. On June 29, 2016, Poile executed the largest transaction in franchise history by acquiring 2013 Norris Trophy winner P.K. Subban and giving Smashville a superstar they've never seen before. Prior to those acquisitions, on April 3, 2013, Poile traded for emerging superstar Filip Forsberg, who has led the team in goals in each of the past three seasons and tied the franchise record for goals in a campaign in 2015-16, from Washington. Forsberg, selected 11th overall in the 2012 Entry Draft, was rated the third-best player by Poile's staff, but slipped due to a run of defensemen being drafted. Other key components acquired via trade include Calle Jarnkrok (2014), who signed a six-year contract in the summer of 2016.

Despite the recent influx of star players from the outside, the Predators continue to hold firm to their philosophy of building around home-grown products starting in net with three-time Vezina Trophy finalist Pekka Rinne, and on the blue line with Roman Josi – who set the franchise record for points by a defenseman in a season (14g-47a-61pts) in 2015-16 – Ryan Ellis – who set career highs in nearly every category in 2016-17 – and Mattias Ekholm, who has emerged into one of the most reliable defensemen in the game at both ends of the ice.

In addition to Johansen and Forsberg, the forward corps are anchored by Viktor Arvidsson – who Poile signed to a seven-year, $29.75 million contract on July 22, 2017, after co-leading the Preds in goals (31) and points (61) in 2016-17 – three-time 20-goal scorer Craig Smith (fourth round in 2009), 2017 Stanley Cup Playoff breakout star Colton Sissons (second round in 2012), Austin Watson (first round in 2010), plus 2017 free-agent acquisitions Nick Bonino and Scott Hartnell, the latter of which was originally selected sixth overall by Poile and the Predators in the 2000 NHL Entry Draft. Of the 40 players used by Nashville in 2016-17, 22 were either drafted by the club, or made their NHL debuts with the Preds.

To supplement his core players who have been drafted and developed, or acquired via trade, Poile has been among the busiest GMs on the free-agent market the past five summers, signing 12 forwards, five defensemen and a goalie to NHL contracts during the opening weeks of free agency.

The assertive, team-building plan implemented by Poile from the franchise's inception has helped the organization earn the reputation as one of the most stable, well-built teams in the NHL. Crucial to the plan's success is the ability to make the right selections and develop the young prospects. Poile has assembled a bright staff of personnel charged with those responsibilities, including Assistant General Manager Paul Fenton, Chief Amateur Scout Jeff Kealty, Director of Hockey Operations Brian Poile, and a team of gifted professional and amateur scouts across North America and Europe.

Poile has long been a proponent of a strong developmental system as a means to develop blossoming young players into productive NHL players. The Predators' primary developmental affiliate, the American Hockey League's Milwaukee Admirals, captured the first Calder Cup Championship in franchise history in 2004 and revisited the Calder Cup Final in 2006. They have advanced to the Calder Cup Playoffs in 14 of the last 15 seasons, winning five division titles in that span. In 2016-17, the Admirals finished third in the Central Division with 93 points, led by highly touted Preds prospects such as Vladislav Kamenev (second round in 2014), Pontus Aberg (second round in 2012) and Frederick Gaudreau, all of whom saw time with the Predators last season, including breakout playoff appearances from Aberg and Gaudreau. From 2002-03 to 2010-11, the Admirals became the first team in AHL history to post 40-or-more wins and 90-or-more points in eight consecutive seasons each season with a team predominately made up of Predators prospects.

Poile's wisdom and experience is clearly valued throughout the hockey world, as evidenced by his selection to the post of General Manager of the U.S. Olympic Team for the 2014 Sochi Games. He was associate general manager for the 2010 United States Olympic Team, and helped select the team that would become one of the headline stories of the 2010 Games, capturing the hearts of a nation en route to a silver medal. Poile was a member of the U.S. National Team Advisory Group for the third consecutive International Ice Hockey Federation World Championships in 2014, and also served as associate GM for the American entries into the 2009 and 2010 editions of the tournament, and as general manager at the 1998 and 1999 Worlds.

Since its establishment in 2005, Poile has helped guide the NHL Competition Committee, making him one of just two individuals to sit on the committee all 11 seasons of its existence. The steering body that formulates and recommends rule changes for approval by the NHL Board of Governors, the Competition Committee continues to be one of the most influential bodies in the game today having helped usher in innovations featuring on-ice innovations such as the regular-season shootout, hybrid icing and the grandfathering of visors. In March 2014, Poile received yet another prestigious honor by being appointed to the Hockey Hall of Fame Selection Committee, and helped mold the Hall of Fame's 61st (2014), 62nd (2015), 63rd (2016) and 64th (2017) classes.

Poile's third straight General Manager of the Year nomination in 2011-12 came after the team finished with a 48-26-8 record (104 points), the third-best record in the Western Conference, fifth-best in the NHL, and good for home-ice advantage in the Stanley Cup Playoffs. In 2010-11, he was a finalist for the award after Nashville earned the fifth seed in the Western Conference (99 points) and gave up the third-fewest goals in the League (190) despite missing nearly 350 man-games due to injury, and in 2009-10, he constructed a team that was one of 11 to hit the 100-point mark despite having a payroll ranked 28th in the League, earning a spot as a finalist for the inaugural General Manager of the Year Award.

In 2006-07, Poile was recognized by The Sporting News as its "Executive of the Year," an honor he had received twice previously (1982-83 and 1983-84), which is determined through a vote of his peers, after the Predators finished the season with the second-most points in the Western Conference and tied for the third-most points in the entire League. The Predators established franchise records in points (110), wins (51), road wins (23) and goals (272) during the campaign. Locally, Business TN magazine honored him as the magazine's "CEO of the Year" for 2006 based on his consistent and successful track record as the team's architect.

In 2001, Poile was a recipient of the Lester Patrick Award in recognition of contributions to hockey in the United States. Poile has devoted his professional career to hockey and the NHL, particularly in non-traditional markets. His late father, Bud Poile, also a recipient of the Lester Patrick Award (1989) and a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame (1990), served as general manager of two expansion franchises – first in Philadelphia (1967) and then in Vancouver (1970). David Poile began his professional career as an administrative assistant with the Atlanta Flames expansion franchise in 1972 and spent 10 years with the organization before being named general manager of the Washington Capitals in 1982. The 2016-17 campaign will mark his 44th in NHL.

For the 1982-83 season, Poile took the reins of a Washington team that had never made the Stanley Cup Playoffs. In his 15 years there, the Capitals advanced to the postseason 14 times. The 1997-98 Capitals, largely comprised of players Poile acquired, advanced to the Stanley Cup Final. During his 15-year tenure, the Caps compiled a record of 594-454-132 (.559), ranking among the NHL's top-five teams during that span.

Poile was instrumental in the League's adoption of the instant replay rule in 1991. He was awarded Inside Hockey's Man of the Year award for his leadership on the issue.

A graduate of Northeastern University in Boston, Poile was hockey team captain, leading scorer and most valuable player for two years, earning a place in the University's Hall of Fame. In June 2014, he received an honorary doctorate degree from American Sentinel University.

Poile also serves as an alternate governor for the team and in December 2007, he added President of Hockey Operations to his title. For the past six seasons, Poile has donated to Operation Homefront (which provides emergency assistance and morale programs to our U.S. troops), USA Hockey and the Peterson for Parkinson's Foundation for every Predators victory.

He and his wife, Elizabeth, reside in Nashville. The Poiles have two children – daughter Lauren and son Brian – and three grandchildren – Ellie, Charlotte and Wyatt.

SEAN HENRY PRESIDENT/CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

In 2016-17, his seventh season in Smashville, Nashville Predators and Bridgestone Arena President & Chief Executive Officer and Alternate Governor Sean Henry proudly watched the Nashville Predators and Bridgestone Arena complete their most successful season to date. Led by the passion and dedication of the greatest staff in all of sports, the franchise sold out all regular and playoff home games and the Western Conference Champion Predators made it to Game 6 of the Stanley Cup Final. As the season ended, it was estimated that during the four rounds, close to $2.7 million was generated for the city through ticket, merchandise and concessions sales taxes; the overall economic impact from a record 11 home playoff games was over $50 million.

Beyond the tangible financial impact on the community, the excitement and enthusiasm generated within Smashville leading up to and throughout the Stanley Cup, was truly immeasurable. What Henry, and the entire organization, is extremely proud of though is the impact the Nashville Predators Foundation made during this time. Over the four playoff rounds, the Nashville Predators Foundation collectively raised $200,000 which included auctions, Smash Car and game night sales. By leveraging Smashville's passion and support for the team, the Preds enter their 20th season after once again setting a franchise high in contributions and entities touched by the Foundation.

The Nashville Predators experienced their first glimpse into the power the team held to make a significant impact in the local economy during the 2016 NHL All-Star Weekend. The city of Nashville, its businesses and residents came together to create an incredible, unforgettable weekend celebration of concerts and activities that saw almost 60,000 attendees. Over $20 million in economic impact was estimated during the showcase, with over 5,000 hotel rooms occupied. As the most watched and highest rated All-Star Game in NBC's history, it was also the most successful and interactive All-Star Celebration in League history.

Economic impact is a tangible example of the strong public-private partnership the Nashville Predators have with the Nashville Metro Government. In Ford Ice Center's second year, the venue once again consistently capped out ice usage, reminding the Smashville community of the need for ice. After seeing this need, a recent development was born; the One Bellevue Place ice rink, which will break ground in 2017. This rink was created through the need for more ice in Middle Tennessee and the passion our community has to grow the sport of hockey, made possible through the dedication Metro has to the sports community and how it positively impacts families all across the region.

During the summer of 2017, Henry and his talented and revolutionary operations team led Bridgestone Arena through another wave of multi-million-dollar upgrades including a new locker room, a luxury media and crew catering space, the addition of another premium seat location and enhancements in concession areas and restrooms. In his seven years with the Predators and Bridgestone Arena, Henry has overseen more than $66 million in upgrades, improvements and renovations – all a part of the organization's plan to make the Bridgestone Arena experience for every guest, player, performer, musician, fan and employee that walks through its doors the best it possibly can be.

For Henry, on par with every seat filled, every renovation finished and every ticket sold, is the organization's commitment to the city of Nashville through the Nashville Predators Foundation and the Nashville Predators Youth Hockey programs. The Foundation's grants and programs funded more than $1 million in programs and donations to over 400 local organization in the 2016-17 season and the organization's Hearts of Gold program infused the area with more than 6,000 community service hours donated by employees, players and staff, all of which create a special workplace environment while also changing lives throughout Middle Tennessee. Henry played a vital role in the organization's decision to commit $500,000 over the course of five years to AMEND, an innovative YWCA primary prevention initiative dedicated to ending violence against women and girls in our community. Starting in the 2016-17 season, the Nashville Predators contributed $100,000 to their commitment.

Henry was born a Nashvillian, although it took him 42 years to get here. Before leading his favorite staff in Smashville, he served for 11 years as the Executive Vice President and COO of the Tampa Bay Lightning, two years as the Vice President of Sales and Marketing with Unity Motion and 14 years with Volume Services Inc., where he worked with the Detroit Pistons, St. Louis Rams and the Washington Redskins.

Though much of his time is spent moving the Nashville Predators and Bridgestone Arena towards its ONE GOAL alongside tireless and passionate Smashville employees, Henry is grateful for each day he has the opportunity to serve on the boards of the Nashville Predators Foundation, YWCA of Nashville and Middle Tennessee, Nashville Downtown Partnership, Nashville Sports Council, Nashville Chamber of Commerce, the Monroe Carell Jr Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt and stay involved (along with his wife) in his children's schools, sports teams and clubs.

What Henry is most proud of, is the organization's consistency in continuously making strides to reach its ONE GOAL of becoming the number one sports and entertainment venue in the United States with its centerpiece as the Stanley Cup Champion Nashville Predators hockey team. As the organization grows, its fanbase and economic impact in the community grow alongside it. The Nashville Predators are proud to be recognized year after year by its outstanding venue, dedicated staff, tireless community outreach and city efforts, and envied workplace culture through international and national publications and awards. Henry is honored to work for a company that consistently sets pace and makes historic achievements while doing so.

Despite the numerous titles and accolades Henry has achieved in his professional career, his reigning Father of the Year Award is one that has no equal and one that would not be possible without the support of his wife of 26 years Tracey Manning (a.k.a. the Suburban Diva) or his four children – Steven, Matthew, Amy and Jessica. How Henry managed to win Father of the Year despite his constant attempts to recreate National Lampoon's Vacation and repeated stories (all normally captured in the Diva's writings), is perhaps his greatest achievement.

Poile's primary responsibilities include managing the club's roster, payroll, salary cap, research and negotiation of player contracts, salary arbitration preparation, supervising the team's analytics department, training, equipment and medical staffs. Poile oversees the minor league affiliation agreements with the American Hockey League's Milwaukee Admirals and ECHL's Norfolk Admirals. He is also involved in team fiscal management and strategic planning, evaluating pro and amateur players, compliance with the Collective Bargaining Agreement, administration with NHL's Central Registry as well as the day-to-day business operations of the hockey department. Poile is also the liaison between hockey department and the organization's leadership team, finance, legal, corporate partnerships, marketing, communications, community relations, broadcast, human relations and facility operations.

During his tenure, Poile has been a part of every playoff series win in team history including Anaheim (2011), Detroit (2012), Anaheim (2016), Chicago (2017), St. Louis (2017) and Anaheim (2017). Also in his time with the Predators management team, David Poile has been nominated for General Manager of the Year three times and won the award in 2017.

Poile began his career with the NHL's Dallas Stars under the leadership of Bob Gainey and Doug Armstrong as the Stars' Director of Team Services and then spent three seasons as the Star's Director of Hockey Operations for their American Hockey League affiliate, the Utah Grizzlies, in Salt Lake City. PAUL FENTON ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER

Now entering his 20th season with the Predators, and his 12th as the club's assistant general manager in 2017-18, Paul Fenton has been instrumental in bringing in many of Nashville's core players through the draft, trades, contract negotiations and free-agent signings.

After serving as the director of player personnel for the Predators' first eight seasons, Fenton was promoted to assistant general manager on June 5, 2006, where he oversees the Predators' amateur player development, manages the team's professional and amateur scouting staff and advises President of Hockey Operations/General Manager David Poile on player personnel decisions. He has assisted in player acquisitions since joining the Predators and managed the club's Entry Draft efforts from 2003 (when the team selected Ryan Suter, Shea Weber, Kevin Klein and Alexander Sulzer) until 2008 when he passed the torch to Chief Amateur Scout Jeff Kealty.

Fenton played an instrumental role in the Predators reaching the Stanley Cup Final for the first time in franchise history in 2017, with homegrown talents such as Frederick Gaudreau and Pontus Aberg scoring goals in the Final.

Of the 40 players the Predators used in 2016-17, 17 of them were drafted by Nashville while another five were acquired by Nashville before making their NHL debut, meaning no fewer than 17 players used were "homegrown" for the sixth consecutive season.

Fenton also serves as general manager of the Predators' primary developmental affiliate, the Milwaukee Admirals of the American Hockey League, who made 12 consecutive playoff appearances from 2003-14, while also focusing on prospect development.

Milwaukee became the first team in AHL history to post 40-or-more wins and 90-or-more points in eight consecutive seasons from 2002-03 to 2010-11 with the likes of future Preds such as Weber, Pekka Rinne, Roman Josi, Colin Wilson, Ryan Ellis and Mattias Ekholm. Fenton served as Associate GM for Team USA at the 2011 World Championship and as Director of Player Personnel for Team North America at the 2016 World Cup of Hockey.

The Springfield, Mass., native joined the Predators after spending five seasons in the Anaheim Ducks' hockey operations department. He served as a scout during his first three seasons with the Ducks and as the chief professional scout the last two years. A number of players drafted during Fenton's run with the Ducks – such as Paul Kariya, Steve Rucchin, Ruslan Salei and Mike LeClerc – led Anaheim to the 2003 Stanley Cup Final. Fenton also helped facilitate one of the Anaheim franchise's largest trades, the February 1996 acquisition of Teemu Selanne.

Fenton played eight seasons in the NHL before joining the scouting ranks. He amassed 100 goals and 83 assists in 411 NHL contests while playing for seven different NHL teams, including San Jose during the Sharks' inaugural season (1991-92). In 1989-90, the former Boston University Terrier scored an NHL career-high 32 goals for the Winnipeg Jets, and his playing resume also includes three selections to AHL and IHL All-Star teams.

Paul and his wife, Nona, reside in Brentwood. They have two sons - P.J., who is an amateur scout for the Edmonton Oilers, who has a daughter named Emerie Rose with his wife Stefanie, and Owen, a postdoctoral scholar after receiving his doctorate in chemistry at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT).

JEFF KEALTY CHIEF AMATEUR SCOUT

Jeff Kealty enters his 11th season as the Nashville Predators Chief Amateur Scout and 17th campaign with the organization in 2017-18. While his primary responsibility is monitoring the best draft-eligible talent around the globe and spearheading the team's annual efforts at the NHL Entry Draft, Kealty also keeps an eye on the development of prospects in the CHL, NCAA and other junior leagues across North America and Europe.

The Boston native has overseen Nashville's past 10 drafts, helping to bolster the club's depth across the board, selecting 42 forwards, 25 defensemen and 10 goalies since his first year running Nashville's draft table in 2008.

Nashville continued to reap the benefits of Kealty and his staff's astute drafting in 2016-17. Three more Preds draftees solidified spots on the NHL roster – Pontus Aberg, Kevin Fiala and Juuse Saros – while other highly touted prospects such as 2014 second-round pick Vladislav Kamenev and 2015 fourth-round pick Alexandre Carrier made their debuts in 2016-17. Filip Forsberg – who has led the team in points each of the past three seasons and tied the franchise record for goals in a campaign in 2015-16 – was ranked third by Nashville's scouting staff for the 2012 Entry Draft, an integral component in his acquisition from Washington. Additionally, the blockbuster trade for All-Star center Ryan Johansen was made possible by the scouting staff's knack for selecting world class defensemen.

Other homegrown selections selected early in the Kealty era such as Roman Josi, Mattias Ekholm, Ryan Ellis, Craig Smith and Viktor Arvidsson have developed into core pieces of the Predators. Further down the organizational depth chart, Nashville is bullish on the future of 2016 first rounder Dante Fabbro, 2015 second rounder Yakov Trenin amongst others in a deep crop of talent.

A former first-round pick (22nd overall) of the Quebec Nordiques in 1994, Kealty was signed by Nashville as a free agent in 1998 following a four-year college career at Boston University. The former defenseman played one pro season for the Milwaukee Admirals (International Hockey League) before his playing career was cut short due to injury. Kealty, his wife Lynn, daughter Lydia and son James (twins), and daughter Hannah reside in Norfolk, Mass.

SCOTT NICHOL DIRECTOR OF PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Scott Nichol enters his fifth season as the Predators Director of Player Development in 2017-18. In his role, Nichol is responsible for following and evaluating prospects drafted by Nashville, in addition to working with players on all levels throughout the United States, Canada and Europe. He assists them with their maturation process into NHL players by focusing on nutrition, off-ice workouts and conditioning, practice habits and game performance.

Nichol hung up the skates and rejoined the Predators organization in May 2013 after completing a 20-season professional career which spanned from 1994-95 to 2012-13. The Edmonton, Alberta native, who played 209 regular-season games (24g-23a-47pts) for the Predators from 2005-09, posted 127 points (56g-71a) and 916 penalty minutes in 662 NHL games with Buffalo, Calgary, Chicago, Nashville, San Jose and St. Louis and 211 points (90g-121a) and 1,029 penalty minutes in 398 games at the American and International Hockey League level with Rochester, Detroit and Milwaukee. He helped the San Jose Sharks advance to back-to-back Western Conference Finals in 2010 and 2011, and won the AHL's Calder Cup as a member of the Rochester Americans in 1996.

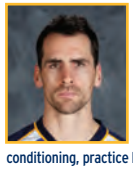
Perennially one of the NHL's top face-off men, Nichol, led the League in face-off efficiency in 2007-08 with Nashville and during the 2009-10 season with San Jose. He also holds a Nashville franchise record for shorthanded goals in a game/period with two in the second period of a 5-2 victory at St. Louis on Jan. 19, 2008.

Buffalo's ninth selection, 272nd overall (11th round), in the 1993 Entry Draft was coached by Predators Radio Analyst Brent Peterson with the Portland Winterhawks from 1992-94, posting 157 points (71g-86a) and 290 penalty minutes in 132 Western Hockey League games.

He also serves as head coach for the Rochester Monarchs 2003 and 2004 squads.

Nichol and his wife Christie, sons Hayden and Foster, and daughter Sophia reside in Rochester, N.Y. Follow him on Twitter @RealScottNichol.

WADE REDDEN ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF PLAYER DEVELOPMENT



Wade Redden enters his second season as the Predators Assistant Director of Player Development in 2017-18. In his role, Redden assists Director of Player Development Scott Nichol in following and evaluating prospects drafted by Nashville, assisting them with their maturation process into NHL players by focusing on nutrition, off-ice workouts and conditioning, practice habits and game performance.

A former NHL All-Star defenseman, Redden, 39, amassed 457 points (109g-348a) in 1,023 career NHL games with Ottawa, the New York Rangers, St. Louis and Boston from 1996-2013. The second overall selection in the 1996 Entry Draft was named to a pair of All-Star Games in 2002 and 2004, led all NHL blueliners in goals during the 2003-04 campaign, and topped the entire League in plus/minus rating in 2005-06. The Lloydminster, Sask., native advanced to the Stanley Cup Playoffs 13 times in his 14 seasons, amassing 49 points (13g-36a) in 106 postseason contests and helping Ottawa reach the 2007 Stanley Cup Final.

Internationally, Redden helped Canada claim the 2004 World Cup of Hockey, strike gold at the 1995 and 1996 World Junior Championships and earn a silver medal at the 2005 World Championship while being named the tournament's best defenseman. He also played in the 2006 Torino Olympics and both the 1999 and 2001 World Championships. Redden enjoyed a decorated junior career with the Brandon Wheat Kings from 1993-96, helping the Wheat Kings to the 1996 WHL title, being named to the 1996 Memorial Cup All-Tournament Team. In 1994, he won the Jim Piggott Trophy as WHL Rookie of the Year.

Redden and his wife, Danica, have three daughters: Leni, Harper and Ryann.

PETER LAVIOLETTE HEAD COACH

Coming off of his third career appearance in the Stanley Cup Final, and first with the Nashville Predators, Head Coach Peter Laviolette enters the 2017-18 season with the ultimate goal of capturing the franchise's first Stanley Cup. A 2006 Stanley Cup Champion as head coach of the Carolina Hurricanes, Laviolette guided the Predators to their first appearance in the Stanley Cup Final last season, winning 14 games in the longest postseason run in club history. Known for his aggressive, up-tempo philosophy, was named the second head coach in Nashville Predators history on May 6, 2014.

Laviolette's Predators finished 2016-17 with a 41-29-12 record and ranked 16th in NHL's regular-season standings, qualifying for the postseason as the second Wild Card team in the Western Conference. Nashville ultimately became the third club seeded lowest in its conference to advance to the Stanley Cup Final since the League adopted the conference-based playoff format in 1994. In the process, Laviolette reached the Conference Finals for the third time as an NHL head coach (also 2006 with Carolina and 2010 with Philadelphia), becoming just the third head coach to do so with three different teams.

The 2016-17 regular season also saw a pair of milestones for Laviolette. With a 4-2 victory over Minnesota on Jan. 22, 2017, Laviolette became the 25th coach in NHL history to record his 500th win. Then, just two months later, Laviolette coached his 1,000th career game, making him one of 28 to accomplish the feat in League history. Of the 28 individuals who have coached at least 1,000 NHL games, Laviolette's .577 win percentage ranks seventh among the field. He enters the 2017-18 season with 518 career wins, second in all-time victories for a U.S.-born coach, trailing only John Tortorella.

In season No. 1 in the Music City in 2014-15, Laviolette coached the Preds to a 47-25-10 record (104 points) – nine more wins and 16 more points than the team finished with a season earlier – to return to the Stanley Cup Playoffs. The 2014-15 season with highlighted by a scorching start which saw the Preds reach 10, 20, 30 and 40 wins quicker than any other point in team history, and top the Western Conference standings in each of the season's five full months (November-March). At 2015 All-Star Weekend in Columbus, Laviolette and his staff manned the Team Toews bench after the Predators held the League's highest point percentage at the season's midpoint (.725, 27-9-4 record). It was his second career NHL All-Star appearance, having shared coaching duties at the 2011 NHL All-Star Game in Raleigh. His efforts also earned him a spot as one of three finalists for the 2015 Jack Adams Award, the second time in his career he has been named a finalist.

In 2015-16, he picked up where he left off in season No. 1 in Smashville, leading the team to its third-ever playoff series victory in dramatic fashion, staving off elimination in Game Six of their Western Conference Round One series vs. Anaheim, then winning the franchise's first Game Seven, on the road no less, to advance. Nashville would reach new heights in the Second Round vs. San Jose, winning the longest game in franchise history in Game Four to even the series, and again forcing a Game Seven with another overtime win in Game Six, making it the longest postseason run in franchise history at the time.

Upon coming to Nashville, Laviolette immediately instilled the intensity and urgency necessary to help veteran players thrive and young players reach their potential. Players like Roman Josi and Filip Forsberg have continued their trajectories toward stardom with record-breaking performances in 2015-16, while others like Ryan Johansen, Mattias Ekholm and Ryan Ellis have continued their development into elite NHLers.

Prior to joining the Predators, Laviolette compiled a career coaching record of 389-282-(25)-63 (866 points) in parts of 12 seasons with the New York Islanders (2001-03), Carolina Hurricanes (2003-09) and Philadelphia Flyers (2009-14). Like the Preds in 2014-15, each of his previous three teams improved exponentially in the first full season after he took the helm: the Islanders finished with 96 points and the eighth-best record in the League in 2001-02 after finishing 30th with 52 points the season prior; the Hurricanes went from 23rd in the NHL with 76 points to fourth with 112 points in 2005-06; and the Flyers improved from 88 points and 18th in the NHL to 106 points and fourth in 2010-11. Laviolette won 52 games in his first full season with Carolina in 2005-06 – earning him runner-up Jack Adams Award honors in the closest vote in award history – in addition to recording back-to-back 47-win seasons with Philadelphia in 2010-11 and 2011-12, and hitting the 40-win mark on three other occasions (2001-02, 2006-07 and 2007-08).

Including his Stanley Cup win in 2006 with Carolina, Laviolette has made nine postseason appearances – two with the Islanders in 2002 and 2003 to end a seven-year postseason absence for the franchise; three with the Flyers – all of which saw the team advance beyond the opening round, including the 2009-10 campaign, when he took over midseason and led the team to Game Six of the Stanley Cup Final; then in 2015, 2016 and 2017 with the Predators.

Laviolette's offensive-minded philosophy is evidenced by his teams finishing in the Top 10 in goals six times in 11 full NHL seasons, with three of those being top-three results. When coaching a team for a full season, Laviolette's squad has never finished lower than 14th in goals for. That doesn't include his two midseason takeovers where the Hurricanes improved their goals average from 1.87 to 2.23 when he moved behind the bench in 2003-04, and when the Flyers finished eighth in offensive output in 2009-10.

His work with Nashville's young core continues a long track record of developing talent at the NHL level – in Philadelphia, Claude Giroux played his first full season under Laviolette in 2009-10, and has become one of the NHL's elite offensive producers, posting 93 points and finishing fourth in Hart Trophy voting in 2011-12; James Van Riemsdyk played his first NHL games under Laviolette in 2009-10, then hit the 21-goal mark as a 21-year-old in his sophomore season a year later; Jakub Voracek improved his point-per-game average from .58 with Columbus to .75 with Laviolette's Flyers teams after a trade in the summer of 2011; Wayne Simmonds doubled his goal total from 14 in 2010-11 with Los Angeles to 28 in his first season with Philadelphia in 2011-12; and Matt Read posted 24 goals as a rookie in the same season. Now-current Predator Scott Hartnell also hit career highs in goals (37) and points (67) in 2011-12 with the Flyers, being named to his only All-Star Game.

In Carolina, Eric Staal played his first four-plus seasons under Laviolette, notching a career-high 45 goals and 100 points to finish fourth in Hart Trophy voting during the Cup-winning campaign; Justin Williams, a three-time Stanley Cup winner and the 2014 Conn Smythe Trophy recipient as playoff MVP, posted his top-two point totals and only two 30-goal seasons under Laviolette in 2005-06 and 2006-07. Finally with the Islanders in 2001-02, a 24-year-old Mark Parrish hit the 30-goal mark for the only time in his career.

One of just eight men employed as an NHL head coach at the start of the 2017-18 campaign to have won a Stanley Cup, Laviolette has served as head coach for the United States at three World Championships: in 2004 when the nation earned its first medal in eight years, a bronze, in Prague, Czech Republic; the following spring at the 2005 Championship in Innsbruck and Vienna, Austria; and most recently in 2014 in Minsk, Belarus. He has also represented his country in four Olympic Games, first as a player in the 1988 Calgary Games and the 1994 Lillehammer Games, then as a head coach at the 2006 Torino Games, and as an assistant at the 2014 Sochi Games.

A native of Franklin, Mass., Laviolette began his coaching career with the ECHL's Wheeling Nailers in 1997-98, coaching them to a 37-24-9 record and a spot in the Northern Conference Final. He was hired as head coach of the American Hockey League's Providence Bruins following his rookie season in West Virginia, and proceeded to lead the Bruins to an AHL-best 56-16-4-4 record during the 1998-99 season and the 1999 Calder Cup title. Given Providence's 19-49-7-5 record and last-place finish in the AHL the season prior to Laviolette's takeover, his efforts earned him the 1999 Louis A.R. Pieri Memorial Award as AHL Coach of the Year. He spent one more season in Providence, with the team advancing to the 2000 Eastern Conference Final, before being promoted to an assistant coach under Pat Burns and later Mike Keenan with the parent Boston Bruins, which he assumed for a single campaign (2000-01) until his hiring as 10th coach in New York Islanders history on May 23, 2001.

The former defenseman began his coaching career after 11 seasons playing professionally in the National, International and American Hockey Leagues, and internationally for the U.S. National Team, from 1986-97. He amassed 268 points (78g-190a) in 594 minor-league games in the IHL (Indianapolis, Colorado, Denver, Flint and San Diego) and AHL (Binghamton and Providence) from 1986-97, while appearing in 12 games for the New York Rangers in 1988-89. Laviolette also spent the majority of the 1987-88 and 1993-94 seasons with Team USA preparing for the Olympics, recording a pair of assists in six games at the 1988 Games, then wearing the "C" and scoring one goal in eight games at the 1994 Games.

The Westfield State (Mass.) University graduate finished his collegiate career ranked 14th on the school's all-time points list (43g-44a-87pts) and was named its alumnus of the year in 1988 and inducted into its sports hall of fame in 2002. A three-year captain, Laviolette led the Owls in scoring and was an MASCAC all-conference defenseman his senior season.

Laviolette and his wife, Kristen, have three children – sons Peter and Jack, and daughter Elisabeth.

DAN MUSE ASSISTANT COACH

Dan Muse joined the Predators organization in August 2017, just two months after winning the Clark Cup as head coach of the Chicago Steel of the United States Hockey League, a position he held for the past two seasons. Prior to his arrival in Chicago, Muse served as an assistant coach at Yale University from 2009 to 2013 before being promoted to the title of associate head coach from 2013 to 2015. In addition, Muse served as video coordinator for the United States National Junior Team in 2013 and 2014, winning a Gold Medal at the 2013 World Junior Champions. He has also been behind the bench as an assistant coach at Sacred Heart University, Williams College and Milton Academy.

Muse saw plenty of success as an assistant coach and associate head coach at Yale, including winning an NCAA National Championship with the Bulldogs in 2013. In 2014-15, Yale led the nation in team defense (1.64 goals-against average) and finished the season with the NCAA's top-rated penalty kill (90.1 percent). During his time with the Bulldogs, Muse helped guide the team to Ivy League regular-season titles in 2010, 2011, 2013 and 2015, as well as a pair of ECAC tournament titles and NCAA Tournament appearances in those four seasons.

After missing the playoffs in his first season with the Steel, Muse came back to coach a team that finished with a 38-17-5 record during the 2016-17 regular season before winning three, best-of-five series to capture the 2017 Clark Cup. Muse's club finished with the USHL's top-ranked penalty kill in 2016-17 with a 90.3 percent success rate.

Dan lives in Franklin with his wife, Maureen and their two daughters Fiona and Niamh and son, Kieran.

KEVIN MCCARTHY ASSOCIATE COACH

Kevin McCarthy enters his fourth season with the Nashville Predators organization and first season as Associate Coach in 2017-18. He brings nearly 40 years of professional hockey playing, coaching and front-office experience to his position. McCarthy's responsibilities include running the team's defense and heading up the power play.

McCarthy has helped the Predators reach the Stanley Cup Playoffs in each of his first three seasons with the club, most recently helping oversee the longest postseason run in franchise history – to Game Six of the Stanley Cup Final – in 2016-17. Last season, several of McCarthy's forward corps saw career years, highlighted by third-year superstar Filip Forsberg tying the franchise record for goals in a season alongside Viktor Arvidsson. In his first season in Nashville in 2014-15, McCarthy helped the franchise return to the playoffs for the first time in three seasons, making a nine-win and 16-point improvement.

Prior to joining the Predators, McCarthy served as an assistant coach on Peter Laviolette's staff in Philadelphia for five seasons from 2009-14. The duo joined the Flyers on Dec. 4, 2009 and proceeded to lead them to Game Six of the 2010 Stanley Cup Final, then see the team make an 18-point improvement during their first full season in 2010-11. Philadelphia won 47 games and advanced past the opening round of the Stanley Cup Playoffs in both 2010-11 and 2011-12, with McCarthy helping the likes of Claude Giroux, James Van Riemsdyk, Jakub Voracek, Wayne Simmonds and current Predator Scott Hartnell blossom into NHL stars or hit career years during his time working with them.

The bulk of McCarthy's work behind the bench came with the Hartford Whalers/Carolina Hurricanes organization for 16 seasons from 1992-2009, including its Stanley Cup-winning campaign in 2005-06 and another Stanley Cup Final appearance in 2001-02.

After three seasons as an assistant for the Whalers (1992-95), he served as head coach for the franchise's AHL affiliates in Springfield (1995-97) and New Haven (1997-99), compiling a 156-123-36 record. He rejoined the parent team for the 1999-2000 season, and spent the next nine years as a Hurricanes assistant. In addition to team success, he helped Eric Staal go from an 18-year-old rookie to a 100-point producer and veterans like 2014 Conn Smythe Trophy winner Justin Williams experience a career year.

McCarthy's coaching career started as a player-assistant coach for the AHL's Hershey Bears (1987-88), before a full-time move behind the bench as an assistant in 1988-89 and head coach in 1989-90. He also has front-office experience as the Flyers Director of Player Development from 1990-92.

The former defenseman spent 10 seasons in the NHL with the Flyers, Vancouver Canucks and Pittsburgh Penguins from 1977-87, posting 258 points (67g-191a) in 527 career games. During his time with Vancouver, he served as the Canucks' team captain for three seasons (1979-82) and was named a starter in the 1981 NHL All-Star Game. A native of Winnipeg, Man., McCarthy played his junior hockey for his hometown Clubs and Monarchs of the Western Canada Hockey League, and was a member of Canada's 1975 World Junior Championship entry that earned a silver medal.

McCarthy and his wife, Rhonda, reside in Nashville. They have three daughters: Melissa, Meaghan and Mallory, and three grandchildren: Cannon, Pryce and Chase.

BEN VANDERKLOK GOALTENDING COACH

Ben Vanderklok enters his fourth season as the Nashville Predators Goaltending Coach in 2017-18. In his position, Vanderklok works with all goaltenders in the Nashville system, including those playing in Milwaukee (AHL), Norfolk (ECHL), amateur leagues and Europe.

In his first three seasons in the position, Vanderklok has helped the club's goaltenders finish in the top half of the League in goals-against average in each of his first three seasons with the club. During the 2016-17 season, Pekka Rinne was the NHL's November 2016 First Star of the Month, making him the first Nashville Predators player in team history to accomplish this. In 2016-17, the Predators – backstopped by Rinne – had their longest postseason run in franchise history, making it to Game Six of the 2017 Stanley Cup Final. Rinne was a representative at the NHL All-Star Weekends in both 2015 and 2016, and in 2014-15, his first season working with Vanderklok full time in 2014-15, Rinne tied for second in among all NHL netminders in wins (41), third in goals-against average (2.18) and tied for seventh in save percentage (.923) while playing the sixth-most minutes of any goaltender (3,850:47), finishing second in voting for the 2015 Vezina Trophy. Other achievements as a coach include Juuse Saros being named to the 2017 AHL All-Star Game roster and helping Carter Hutton to his best single-season save percentage (.918) while in the NHL. As a result of being a part of the coaching staff of the team with the best point percentage at the midpoint of the 2014-15 season, Vanderklok also represented the Predators at the 2015 All-Star Game.

Prior to his current role, Vanderklok served as the organization's assistant goaltending coach for five seasons from 2009-14, where he worked with nearly all the goalies within the organization. His work was been integral in Saros' transition to North America. In 2015-16, Saros was named to the 2016 AHL All-Rookie Team after ranking fourth among all league netminders in goals-against average (2.24), tying for fourth in wins (29), tying for sixth in shutouts (4) and tying for eighth in save percentage (.920). In 2013-14, Marek Mazanec played 25 games with the Predators, becoming the youngest in club history to record a shutout on Nov. 19, 2013 at Detroit and being named the NHL's Rookie of the Month for November 2013. Also in 2013-14, Scott Darling came to the organization with one AHL game to his credit, and ended the season ranked among the league leaders in save percentage (.933), goals-against average (2.00) and shutouts (6) for the Admirals, earning him a full-time NHL position with the Chicago Blackhawks.

The Welland, Ontario native worked as goalie coach of the Ontario Hockey League's Niagara IceDogs from 2008-14, helping them reach the playoffs six consecutive seasons and reach the 2012 OHL Final. During his first four seasons with the IceDogs, Vanderklok helped Mark Visentin become a first-round pick of the Arizona Coyotes (27th overall), earn a pair of medals with Team Canada at the World Junior Championship, become 2011 OHL Goaltender of the Year, and earn the 2012 Dave Pinkney Trophy as the goalie with the lowest goals-against average. Visentin also broke a 62-season OHL record for most shutouts in a season in 2011-12 (10).

Vanderklok started his coaching career with the Port Colborne Pirates of the Golden Horseshoe Junior Hockey League (Junior B) from 2003-06 before instructing and training Brock University's (Ontario) goalies from 2007-09. Since 2003, he has run Ben Vanderklok Goaltending, which conducts camps and clinics in the St. Catharines, Ont., region.

A dual Canadian-Dutch citizen, Vanderklok retired from play following four seasons (2000-04) and two league titles in 2002 and 2003 with the Amsterdam Tigers of the Netherlands Elite League. He played a pair of seasons with the OHL's Barrie Colts from 1998-2000.

The 35-year-old Vanderklok, his wife, Marlene, and daughter, Ava, reside in Brentwood.

DAVID GOOD STRENGTH & CONDITIONING COACH

David Good enters his 14th season as the strength and conditioning coach of the Nashville Predators in 2017-18. He joined the Predators in July of 2004 and is responsible for preparing and supervising workout programs for all players in the Predators organization. Good also helps run the club's prospect development program and the off-ice aspects of the Predators Hockey School.

Good was instrumental in developing a program for Steve Sullivan that allowed the Predators forward to return to the ice on January 12, 2009 after almost a two-year absence that included missing 142 straight regular-season games and 11 playoff games due to a back injury. In June of 2009, Sullivan won the NHL's Bill Masterton Memorial Trophy given "to the player that best exemplifies the qualities of perseverance, sportsmanship and dedication to hockey." During the summer of 2010, he designed and outfitted the new weight room at Bridgestone Arena with triple the amount of space to facilitate optimal in-season training.

Prior to joining the Predators, Good served as the Director of Speed-Strength and Conditioning for West Coast Sports Performance and Center for Athlete Medicine in Manhattan Beach, Calif., and also served as a consultant for the Long Beach Ice Dogs (ECHL). The Colorado native served as the Assistant Speed-Strength and Conditioning Coach for the Los Angeles Kings from 1999-2003 and held the same title from 1997-99 with the Ice Dogs (IHL). He also served as Strength and Conditioning Coordinator at Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles from 1998-99.

Before moving to California, Good served as the Student Assistant Strength and Conditioning coach at the University of Colorado for two years. He received his bachelor's degree in kinesiology from the University of Colorado at Boulder along with certifications in strength and conditioning, sports conditioning, Olympic weightlifting and kettlebell training.

Good and his wife, Amanda, reside in Franklin, Tenn.

ANDY HOSLER HEAD ATHLETIC TRAINER

Andy Hosler enters his fifth season as the Predators Head Athletic Trainer and 11th in the organization in 2017-18. Hosler has been a certified athletic trainer for the last 14 years, 12 of which have been spent in professional hockey.

In his role as Head Athletic Trainer, Hosler manages the health and rehab of players throughout the Nashville organization. He served as Nashville's assistant athletic trainer for six seasons from 2007-13 before assuming the head role for the 2013-14 campaign.

Prior to joining the Predators, the Monroe, Mich., native spent two seasons as the Head Athletic Trainer for the Utah Grizzlies of the ECHL. Hosler earned a master's degree in kinesiology at Michigan State University while serving as a graduate assistant, working with the Spartan wrestling and football teams during the 2003-04 and 2004-05 seasons. Hosler earned his bachelor's degree from Western Michigan University, working across the athletic department spectrum from gymnastics to football.

Hosler is a certified member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, licensed Athletic Trainer through the state of Tennessee and certified Level 1 Sports Performance Coach through USA Weightlifting. He also holds a membership through the Professional Hockey Athletic Trainer's Society.

Hosler resides in Brentwood, Tenn., with his wife, Elizabeth and son, Henry.

PETE ROGERS HEAD EQUIPMENT MANAGER

Pete Rogers enters his 20th season as Head Equipment Manager of the Nashville Predators in 2017-18. He is responsible for the everyday equipment needs of all the players as well as coordinating transfer of equipment to and from road games. Rogers works with the NHL to ensure compliance with programs concerning equipment tracking, jersey authentication and on-ice exposure.

Rogers served as the Equipment Manager for the U.S. Men's National Team in his second Olympic Games at the 2014 Winter Olympics in Sochi after having first done so in Torino in 2006. He has also represented his country in six IIHF World Championships (1999-2002, 2005, 2013), most recently in Stockholm, Sweden and Helsinki, Finland in 2013 where Team USA earned a bronze medal. He's also served as the United States' equipment manager at the 2004 World Cup of Hockey and the 2004 Deutschland Cup in Germany.

The President of the Professional Hockey Equipment Managers (SPHEM) for the past five seasons, and the host of their annual conference at Gaylord Resort and Convention Center in 2016, Rogers worked his 2,000th professional game as an equipment manager in Nashville's 2014-15 regular-season finale on April 11, 2015 at Dallas. The "Original Predator" has been behind the bench for all 1,790 regular-season and 94 playoff games the team has played, including his 1,000th game with the Predators on November 12, 2011. The "Voice of the Predators" Pete Weber (Twitter: @petewebersports) begins his 20th season as part of the Nashville Predators broadcast crew and his third working as the team's primary radio play-by-play announcer in 2016-17. In the last 19 seasons, Weber has missed just two games and has called 1,534 games for the club (1,440 regular season, 94 playoff).

A Nashville Predator since Day One, Brent Peterson enters his fourth season as a member of the Preds' broadcast team. After spending his first 13 seasons with the franchise as a member of the team's coaching staff, Peterson spent 2011-14 as Hockey Operations Advisor, working closely with General Manager David Poile and the coaching staff in all matters involving the team, in addition to being active in the community and in sponsorship and business operations.

A tireless worker in the community, Peterson established the Peterson Foundation for Parkinson's (PFP) in 2007 to raise awareness of the devastating effects of Parkinson's disease. Since 2011, PFP has joined forces with the Nashville Predators to hold Petey's Preds Party – a fun night of live entertainment, dinner and an extensive silent auction – and the Nashville Predators/Brent Peterson Celebrity Golf Classic at Vanderbilt Legends Club. In its first six years of existence, the combination Party and Golf Classic have raised more than $500,000 which was split between Parkinson's research and the Predators Foundation. Donations to PFP fund critical research to aid in the fight against the disease as well as educational and support groups.

During the 2011-12 season, Peterson brought his battle with Parkinson's into the public eye – including in-depth coverage of his Deep Brain Stimulation Surgery (DBS) – in an effort to create awareness and cultivate donations to the Peterson Foundation for Parkinson's. Since the DBS, Peterson is happy, healthy and has seen a reduction of his Parkinson's symptoms.

In his time behind the Predators bench as both associate coach (2003-11) and assistant coach (1998-2003), Peterson worked closely with the penalty-killing unit that has finished among the top 12 in the NHL in 10-of-12 seasons, and a defensive corps that gave up the second-fewest goals in his final season behind the bench (2010-11). He helped the club to Stanley Cup Playoff berths in six of his last seven seasons behind the bench and has coached players such as Dan Hamhuis, Ryan Suter and Shea Weber.

Peterson joined the Predators after serving as head coach of the Portland Winterhawks (WHL) for seven seasons, posting a 201-138-20 mark. During the 1997-98 season, the Winterhawks were a league-best 53-14-5 and captured the WHL Championship and the Memorial Cup. He recorded 40-or-more victories on four occasions and helped develop NHL first-round picks Adam Deadmarsh (1993), Jason Wiemer (1994), Brenden Morrow (1997) and Marian Hossa (1997).

Prior to joining Portland, the Calgary, Alta., native spent two seasons (1989-91) as an assistant coach with the Hartford Whalers (NHL) following his retirement as a player. The former first-round pick of Detroit (1978) played 11 NHL seasons from 1978-89 with Detroit, Buffalo, Vancouver and Hartford. He appeared in 620 NHL games, collecting 213 points (72g-141a) and 484 penalty minutes. Peterson was known as one of the NHL's top defensive forwards and penalty killers.

Brent and his wife, Tami, reside in Franklin, Tenn. They have three children: Ryan, Brad and Kristin, and five grandchildren.

TERRY CRISP STUDIO ANALYST

Entering his 20th year with the Predators, Terry Crisp provides analysis on the Predators during the club's television broadcasts. He regularly contributes insight to the Predators' website and has worked as a studio analyst for Canada's TSN during the 2000, 2002 and 2003 IIHF World Championships. Crisp also hosts his own radio show, Extra Crispy, on the Predators flagship radio station, 102.5 The Game.

From the franchise's first season in 1998 until 2013-14, Crisp worked alongside Pete Weber, forming one of the most well-known broadcast duos in the League. A part of the Predators' Emmy-winning broadcasts in 2003, 2008 and 2010, Crisp served as a color analyst for FOX Sports during the 1998-99 season and during the 1998 and 1999 Stanley Cup Finals, and has served in a similar capacity for TSN in past years.

Crisp posted 201 points (67g-134a) in 536 games during his 11 seasons in the NHL as a player for the Boston Bruins, St. Louis Blues, New York Islanders and Philadelphia Flyers. He won three Stanley Cup Championships, two as a player with the Flyers (1974 and 1975) and one as a coach with Calgary (1989), and he is one of only 14 people to have won the Cup as both player and head coach. The Parry Sound, Ont., native has a unique perspective on expansion teams: he was a player with the inaugural editions of the St. Louis Blues in 1967 and the New York Islanders in 1972.

Crisp was the head coach of the Tampa Bay Lightning from the franchise's inception in 1992 through October 1997, coaching 391 games. He held the record for most games coached by an expansion franchise's first coach until Barry Trotz, then with the Nashville Predators, broke the mark in 2003. In the 2004 NHL Stanley Cup Final, the Lightning defeated the Flames – the team he coached to the Cup in 1989. Crisp also served as the assistant coach of the silver medal-winning Canadian team at the 1992 Winter Olympic Games in Albertville, France.

Terry and his wife, Sheila, reside in Nashville. The Crisp's have three children – sons Tony and Jeff, and daughter Caley, and nine grandchildren.

ARENA INFORMATION

BRIDGESTONE ARENA

Bridgestone Arena • 501 Broadway
(615) 770-2000 • Fax (615) 770-2010

Serving as the home for numerous national and international events, Bridgestone Arena has the distinction of being one of the busiest venues in the Unites States since the doors first opened in 1996, hosting more than 20 million guests during that time. The National Hockey League's Nashville Predators have been the primary tenants of Bridgestone Arena since 1998 and boasts one of the most unique game atmospheres in the NHL. Seating capacity is approximately 20,000 for concerts, 19,395 for basketball and 17,113 for Nashville Predators games.

Formerly known as the Nashville Arena, the Gaylord Entertainment Center and the Sommet Center, the building became Bridgestone Arena in 2010 after Bridgestone Americas Inc., which is headquartered in Nashville, entered into multi-year naming-rights and marketing partnership with the Predators and Powers Management.

Initiated by former Nashville Mayor Phil Bredesen and approved by the Metro/Davidson County Council in 1993, Bridgestone Arena uniquely embraces Nashville's heritage as "Music City, U.S.A." Bridgestone Arena was designed as a tribute to Nashville's music roots, with the entrance positioned on the corner of Fifth Avenue and historic Broadway, facing the Ryman Auditorium – the original home of the Grand Ole Opry.

The one million-square-foot facility has also spurred downtown growth in the last ten years, inspiring further development that includes the Country Music Hall of Fame, the Frist Museum of the Visual Arts, the Schermerhorn Symphony Center, multiple hotels (Hilton, Omni, Hyatt, Westin), Encore Condominiums, Pinnacle at Symphony Place office building and the Downtown Public Library. In May 2013, the adjacent Music City Center, Nashville's newest convention facility, opened. Many new restaurants, stores and residential buildings have sprung up during the arena's tenure as well; as of May 2015, the Nashville Downtown Partnership listed 215 restaurants, 102 retail locations and 92 bars/small music venues in the downtown area, with more on the way. In fall of 2017, Bridgestone Americas will fully relocate its headquarters to a new 30-story building two blocks from the Arena.

A report issued in 2012 estimated that Bridgestone Arena and the Nashville Predators generate an annual economic impact of approximately $410 million. More than 2,350 jobs are supported annually by the Nashville Predators and Bridgestone Arena. Nearly two-thirds of attendees at all Bridgestone Arena events come from outside of Davidson County, creating a pure economic impact to Davidson County in dollars spent by out-of-county visitors.

Furthermore, during the 2017 Stanley Cup Playoff run, it was estimated that during the four rounds, close to $2.7 million was generated for the city through ticket, merchandise and concessions sales taxes; the overall economic impact from a record 11 home playoff games (3 Stanley Cup Final, 3 Western Conference Final, 3 Second Round and 2 First Round) was over $50 million.

Bridgestone Arena also hosts a variety of non-traditional functions for Davidson County, the city of Nashville and local residents. Bridgestone Arena tower is home to the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame, an XM Radio studio and the Nashville Convention and Visitors Bureau, which hosts more than 500,000 tourists annually. Bridgestone Arena features The Patrón Platinum Club, a 260-seat fine-dining experience located on the building's suite level, which is open before and after games and concerts, and hosts a number of banquets and receptions. The Lexus Lounge, an exclusive Performers' Level Club that is home to the world's first convex curved 2mm LED wall offering a live panoramic view of the ice, features luxurious amenities such as personal concierge service, plush seating and special-themed buffets.

Continuously upgrading to improve experiences for fans, guests, performers and athletes, Bridgestone Arena underwent another $6 million in renovations during the summer of 2017, bringing the total to $66 million in renovations over the last seven years.

The arena also houses more than 6,000 square feet of meeting room space and a 13,500-square-foot rehearsal hall that is available for rent and used more than 200 days a year by national touring acts. Metro's Registry of Deeds is also located inside the Bridgestone Arena.

The list of acts that have called Bridgestone Arena home is lengthy and includes the Country Music Association Awards; the Country Music Television Awards; Keith Urban's "We're All For the Hall" benefit concerts; NCAA, SEC and OVC Men's and Women's Basketball Tournaments, the 2014 NCAA Women's Final Four; and entertainers such as Madonna, Garth Brooks, Paul McCartney, Elton John, Billy Joel, the Rolling Stones, KISS, Metallica, Taylor Swift, Justin Timberlake and Katy Perry. Bridgestone Arena is in the midst of hosting 12 consecutive SEC Basketball Championships (SEC Men's tournament: 2015-17, 2019-21, 2023-25, SEC Women's tournament: 2018, 2022, 2026). Two seasons ago, the arena hosted the 2016 NHL All Star games, putting on one of the most successful experiences in league history and paving the way for Bridgestone Arena to host the 2017 Stanley Cup Final.

PLAYERS' CHARITABLE INVOLVEMENT

Nashville Predators players, management, staff and Gnash gave more than 6,000 hours of community service during the 2016-17 season. Over the years, players have donated thousands of game tickets and have visited hundreds of non-profit organizations throughout the Middle Tennessee community. Several organizations have benefited from the Predators' charitable ticket initiatives.

The Nashville Predators continue their efforts to enhance the awareness and opportunity of youth hockey in Middle Tennessee. The Predators have created partnerships with local youth hockey associations and assist with fundraising, hockey education and additional ice time to promote the growth of the sport at the grassroots level.

The Nashville Predators also assist area youth hockey organizations by providing coaches' clinics, players' clinics, ice time at Bridgestone Arena and funding for uniforms. Area youth players are also frequently featured during intermissions at Predators' home games.

STREET PRIDE

The NHL's League-wide street youth hockey program, NHL Street, serves local community centers and schools by providing this free athletic and educational program.

The NHL and the Nashville Predators provide street hockey sticks, pucks, nets and protective goalie equipment, including start-up hockey instruction for coaching and administration. The Predators also provide informative manuals for staff and participants, as well as follow-ups with program centers and player/coach clinics.

There are currently more than 40 youth facilities that participate in the Street Pride program including Boys & Girls Clubs throughout Middle Tennessee, Metro Parks and Recreation and the YMCA of Middle Tennessee. This free grassroots hockey development program emphasizes that all a kid needs to play hockey are sneakers, breaking down any socio-economic barriers associated with the sport.

GET OUT AND LEARN!

Get Out And Learn! (G.O.A.L!) presented by Erie Insurance program introduces the game of hockey to everyone, both young and old, without the financial commitment typically associated with the sport. This free, introductory program, designed for those with no prior experience, is offered in weekly sessions throughout the year at local rinks. The Predators provide all necessary equipment, ice time and instruction, making the program ideal for any family. The Preds are dedicated to supporting the development of youth hockey at all levels and recognize the need for local skating facilities to be accessible for beginners to help grow the sport, beginning at younger ages. Since its inception in the fall of 2006, more than 4,000 kids have graduated from G.O.A.L!

PREDATORS HOCKEY SCHOOL

The Predators host a hockey school each July at Ford Ice Center in Antioch, which is open to boys and girls ages 8-14. Youth attending the hockey school are challenged daily with more than two hours of ice time, intensive dry-land conditioning, video analysis and "chalk talk" sessions. Hockey School emphasizes the basic fundamentals of hockey – stickhandling, power skating, shooting and passing.

Other features of the camp include daily lectures on nutrition, injury prevention, equipment maintenance and perspectives from the Predators scouting and coaching staffs.

The Predators also host the "Little Preds" Hockey School, an evening summertime camp at Ford Ice Center in Antioch. The school is offered to children ages 5-8.

COACHING SYMPOSIUM

In an ongoing effort to foster and improve youth hockey opportunities in Middle Tennessee, the Nashville Predators offer support to youth hockey coaches at all levels. Annually, the Preds host a free Coaching Symposium featuring Nashville Predators coaching staff. Through their partnership with USA Hockey, the Predators are able to present tools that any coach can use to improve his or her knowledge, and in turn, the team's on-ice performance.

PREDATORS CUP

The Predators Cup is the annual Tennessee State High School Hockey Championship tournament. Established during the 1999-00 season, it serves as a platform to highlight the top high school hockey teams in the state and is hosted by the Nashville Predators each spring at Bridgestone Arena. Since the inaugural tournament, 14 teams from Middle Tennessee, three teams from Memphis and one team from Knoxville have won the Predators Cup.

SKATE AT BRIDGESTONE ARENA

Since the Predators inaugural season in 1998-99, thousands of youth hockey players have had the opportunity to skate on the same surface as NHL players. As a ticket fundraiser program, "Mites on Ice" is offered to hockey teams ages 9-and-under for the chance to skate in front of 17,000-plus fans during intermissions at select Predator home games.

There are several opportunities throughout the season for adults to skate on Bridgestone Arena ice. "Rise and Grind Morning Hockey" takes place in the early morning hours at Bridgestone Arena and gives adults (ages 18+) the opportunity to get a quick workout in before work. All levels are welcome and sessions are open to the first 26 skaters and four goalies. The cost is $15 per session and includes 60 minutes of ice, parking and breakfast. For more information or to reserve a spot, register at www.nashvillepredators.com/riseandgrind.

Pucks and Pints Happy Hour open hockey is in the midst of its third year at Bridgestone Arena. All levels are welcome, but participants must be at least 21 years of age and provide their own equipment. The cost is $15 per session and includes 60 minutes of ice and a complimentary "pint" at Tavern '96 following the www.nashvillepredators.com/pucksandpints.

NASHVILLE JR. PREDATORS

For the 2015-16 season, the Nashville Predators Youth hockey affiliate Nashville Jr. Predators enter their seventh season offering Tier I/II youth travel hockey to families in the Greater Nashville area. This season, the Jr. Predators program will field 17 teams (4 AAA Tier 1, 7 AA, 6 A) from the following age divisions: Squirt (ages 8-10), Peewee (ages 10-12), Bantam (ages 12-14), and Midget (ages 14-18). Visit nashvillejrpredators.com for more information.

LITTLE PREDS LEARN TO PLAY

Beginning in Fall 2016 the organization will launch a new initiative. Little Preds Learn to Play, which is partially funded by the NHL and NHLPA's Industry Growth Fund, is a multi-year, multi-city endeavor by the Nashville Predators and participating ice rinks in an effort to reduce cost barriers associated with an introductory program. Each session runs for six to eight weeks, and is designed for boys and girls ages 4-8 who have never played hockey. Seasons run every six to eight weeks consecutively. Starting at just $75 (costs vary from rink to rink), participants get weekly on-ice instruction and are outfitted from head to toe with all the necessary hockey equipment to begin playing and is theirs to keep! For the 2016-17 season Little Preds will reach 1,200 first-time young hockey players in six rinks across four states.

PREDS FITNESS CHALLENGE

Launched in the winter of 2015, Preds Fitness Challenge is a new initiative designed to fit within the current P.E. curriculum and aims to keep children active and encourage them to make healthy choices. The Challenge requires students to complete five challenges centered on staying active, choosing healthy eating habits, and an introduction to street hockey throughout the school year. Schools receive a Welcome DVD with Preds Strength Coach, 60 sticks/ball, pop-up nets, fitness wall charts, bracelets and charms to track student progress, a nutrition worksheet and teacher manual. Program launched with a Teach the Teacher event at Bridgestone Arena to watch morning skate followed by street hockey instruction. All fifth grade students invited to a field trip at Ford Ice Center for Hockey 101 and free public skate. In the first year, PFC reached 22,000 students in 50 elementary schools. Each year the program will add another 50 schools/25,000 students. At the end of year three PFC will have a total of 150 schools and 75,000 participants.

DEAN EVASON HEAD COACH

Dean Evason enters his sixth season as the Milwaukee Admirals' head coach in 2017-18 after leading them to playoff berths in four of his first five seasons while developing Nashville's top prospects. In five seasons behind the Milwaukee bench, he has posted a 204-129-44 record, including a 43-win campaign in 2016-17.

Since taking the helm prior to the 2012-13 season, Evason has seen more than 20 players called up to the Predators and oversaw the development of several of the team's key cogs in their run to the 2017 Stanley Cup Final, including Filip Forsberg, Calle Jarnkrok, Mattias Ekholm, Ryan Ellis, Craig Smith, Viktor Arvidsson, Colton Sissons, Miikka Salomaki and Kevin Fiala. In 2015-16, Evason saw his best season yet with the Admirals, earning a 48-23-5 record, despite playing without the likes of Sissons, Arvidsson, Salomaki, Cody Bass and Anthony Bitetto, who all saw significant time with Nashville. In 2013-14, Evason led the Admirals to the postseason despite a youthful roster that contained only six players over the age of 25, a trend that continued in 2014-15. In his first season as benchboss in 2012-13, Milwaukee clinched a playoff berth despite having nine of the team's top 12 scorers recalled to Nashville or traded in the final 20 games of the regular season.

Evason was named the 20th coach in Milwaukee Admirals history on June 19, 2012 after spending seven seasons as an assistant coach with the Washington Capitals, helping them claim four straight Southeast Division titles, reach the Stanley Cup Playoffs five straight years (2008-12) and win the 2010 President's Trophy. In his time as an assistant in Washington from 2005-12, the Capitals compiled a 294-206-74 record (.577). Evason's responsibilities included faceoffs – helping the Caps finish among the NHL's Top 10 five times – the penalty kill – which finished as high as second in the League under his watch (2010-11) – while also being in charge of the team's forwards.

Prior to joining the Capitals, Evason spent six seasons as a head coach in the Western Hockey League. He began his coaching career with the Kamloops Blazers – where his roster included Predators 2002 first-round pick Scottie Upshall – compiling a 109-83-17 record in three seasons from 1999-2002. Evason moved on to guide the Vancouver Giants to back-to-back playoff appearances in 2002-03 and 2003-04, before co-coaching the Calgary Hitmen to a 34-23-9-6 record in 2004-05 on a team that included NHL stars Andrew Ladd and Ryan Getzlaf.

Washington's third selection, 89th overall (third round), in the 1982 Entry Draft, Evason amassed 372 points (139g-233a) and 1,002 penalty minutes in 803 NHL games with the Capitals, Hartford Whalers, San Jose Sharks, Dallas Stars and Calgary Flames from 1983-96. This included a pair of seasons playing under then-Washington General Manager David Poile (1983-85) and three seasons as a teammate of Predators Assistant General Manager Paul Fenton in both the Hartford (1984-86) and San Jose (1991-92) organizations. He served as a player/coach for Team Canada during the 1996-97 season, captaining the team to a gold medal at the 1997 World Championship. He wound down his career as a player/coach with Landshut of the German League in 1997-98 and 1998-99.

A native of Flin Flon, Man., Evason is an honored member of the Manitoba Hockey Hall of Fame. He has three children – Bryce, Brianne and Brooke and was recently married to Genevieve.

STAN DRULIA ASSISTANT COACH

Stan Drulia enters his sixth full season as an assistant coach for the Milwaukee Admirals in 2017-18 where his responsibilities include running the defensive corps, heading up the penalty kill, pre-scouting the opposition and improving the team's face-off efficiency.

Named to the position on Dec. 5, 2011, Drulia has helped the Admirals clinch Calder Cup Playoff berths in five of his first six seasons behind the bench while helping develop Nashville's top prospects including Kevin Fiala, Filip Forsberg, Mattias Ekholm, Ryan Ellis and Craig Smith. Drulia helped the Admirals to a 43-win season in 2016-17, the highest win total since joining the club. In his first full season as an assistant in 2012-13, Drulia helped guide Milwaukee to the playoffs despite having to use 12 blueliners, and seeing nine of the team's top 12 scorers recalled or traded away during the campaign.

Prior to joining Milwaukee, Drulia served as head coach for the ECHL's Wheeling Nailers, compiling a 49-35-5 record. During his last full season with the Nailers in 2010-11, the Fort Erie, Ont., native led the club to a 38-29-5 record and a spot in the Eastern Conference Final. Eighteen players from the squad saw promotions to the American Hockey League during the course of the season.

Drulia spent four seasons in Port Huron from 2006-10, one with the United Hockey League's Flags, and three with the International Hockey League's Icehawks. In his three seasons at the IHL level, Drulia amassed a 132-75-21 record. In 2007-08, he guided the Icehawks to a 41-29-6 record, then to the Turner Cup Final where they fell in a Game Seven overtime. In 2008-09, Drulia led Port Huron to a 44-21-11 mark and was named IHL Coach of the Year. Prior to one season as an assistant with the Toledo Storm (ECHL) in 2005-06, Drulia served as head coach of the ECHL's Augusta Lynx (2003-05), and in his only year as the head coach of the Orlando Seals of the Atlantic Coast Hockey League in 2002-03, he guided the club to the league title, earning ACHL Coach of the Year honors.

Pittsburgh's 11th selection, 214th overall (11th round), in the 1986 Entry Draft, Drulia played 13 professional seasons from 1989-2001, including 126 NHL games with the Tampa Bay Lightning (15g-27a-42pts). He won two Turner Cups as IHL champions in 1994 with the Atlanta Knights and in 1997 with the Detroit Vipers, and was the recipient of the N.R. "Bud" Poile award – named after Predators GM David Poile's father – as IHL Playoff MVP in 1994. Drulia posted three 100-plus point seasons - he won the scoring title and was ECHL MVP with the Knoxville Cherokees in 1990-91 (63g-77a-140pts), ranked second in goals and third in points with both the AHL's New Haven Nighthawks in 1991-92 (49g-53a-102pts), and the Knights in 1993-94 (54g-60a-114pts). In total, he accumulated 823 points (366g-457a) in 671 minor league games.

Before turning pro, Drulia amassed 479 points (198g-281a) in 296 Ontario Hockey League games with Belleville, Hamilton and Niagara Falls from 1984-89 – a league point record that still stands today.

Stan and his wife Shar have a daughter, Shawn, and a son, Trevor.

PLAYOFFS

PREDATORS ADVANCE TO STANLEY CUP FINAL FOR THE FIRST TIME

The most successful postseason run in Predators franchise history culminated with a trip to the 2017 Stanley Cup Final. Nashville came within two wins of the ultimate prize while shattering virtually every franchise playoff record in the process. Perhaps most impressive were the odds the Predators overcame to hit the ice in June for the first time. Ranked 16th in NHL's regular-season standings, the Preds qualified for the postseason as the second Wild Card team in the Western Conference (41-29-12, 94 points), and became the third club seeded lowest in its conference to advance to the Stanley Cup Final since the League adopted the conference-based playoff format in 1994. The others: the 2006 Oilers (4-3 L vs. CAR) and 2012 Kings (4-2 W vs. N.J.). At least one team outside the Top 10 in the NHL's regular-season standings has reached the Stanley Cup Final in eight of the past 15 seasons. The others: the 2002 Hurricanes (16th), 2004 Flames (12th), 2006 Oilers (14th), 2010 Flyers (18th), 2012 Kings (13th), 2014 Rangers (12th) and 2016 Sharks (11th).

DOMINANT DEFENSEMEN

Four of the top six scoring defensemen in the 2017 Stanley Cup Playoffs were Predators - Roman Josi ranked second (6g-8a-14pts) - Ryan Ellis (5g-8a-13pts) ranked third, P.K. Subban (2g-10a-12pts) ranked fourth and Mattias Ekholm (1g-10a-11pts) ranked fifth. Preds defensemen had a hand in 36 of the last 47 goals with 53 points (14g-39a) overall from the backend. In Game Three against Pittsburgh, Josi passed Ellis for most points scored by a Predators defenseman in a single postseason (6g-8a-14pts, 19gp). Josi's six goals led the League for defensemen and set a record for most by a Predator blueliner in a single postseason.

FREDDIE HOCKEY

Frederick Gaudreau, who signed with the Predators as an undrafted free agent in 2016 and made his NHL debut Oct. 22 vs. Pittsburgh, registered each of his first three career goals (regular season and playoffs, 15gp) in the Stanley Cup Final. Elias says that only one other player in NHL history scored each of his first three career goals (regular season and playoffs) in the Stanley Cup Final: Chicago's John Harms in 1944 vs. Montreal. Gaudreau became just the third rookie to collect consecutive game-winning goals in the Stanley Cup Final since the NHL took sole possession of the trophy in 1926-27 - and the second to do so in this series (following Jake Guentzel). The other: Roy Conacher, who notched the winner for the Bruins in Games Three, Four and Five in 1939 vs. Toronto.

QUICK HITS

- With a win in Game Three of the Western Conference Final, Nashville won their 10th consecutive postseason contest at home, marking the 15th instance in NHL history of a team winning at least 10 consecutive home playoff games, with Nashville being the 10th team to accomplish the feat in the League's expansion era (since 1967-68). The Predators joined the Avalanche (11-0 from 1996-97) and Red Wings (10-0 from 1997-98) as the only teams to win at least 10 consecutive home playoff games over the past 28 years.
- Ryan Ellis was the first defenseman in the League to record a seven-game point streak in the postseason since Chris Pronger and Jason Woolley did so in 1998.
- The Predators became the first team to start a postseason with five consecutive victories since 2015, when the Ducks won their first six contests.
- Elias notes that Nashville, who compiled 94 points in 2016-17, became the first club since 2010 (Philadelphia) to reach the Stanley Cup Final despite finishing the regular season with the fewest points among playoff teams.
- Peter Laviolette reached the Conference Finals for the third time as an NHL head coach (also 2006 with Carolina and 2010 with Philadelphia). Elias notes that since the NHL's playoff draw became conference-based in 1994, only two other head coaches have reached the Conference Finals with three different teams: Ken Hitchcock (DAL, PHI, STL) and Darryl Sutter (CHI, CGY, L.A).
- The Preds completed their first series sweep in franchise history in Round One against Chicago.
- Nashville became the third team since 1974-75 (when the NHL introduced the conference format) to sweep the team with the best record in the conference in the opening round. The others: Edmonton swept Montreal in the 1981 Preliminary Round (best-of-five) and St. Louis swept Chicago in the 1993 Division Semifinals (best-of-seven).
- The Predators became the 14th team in NHL history (and fifth in the past 38 years) to allow three goals against or fewer in a four-game series. Only four teams in NHL history have surrendered fewer than three goals in a four game series.

- WESTERN CONFERENCE FIRST ROUND -

GAME ONE

Nashville at Chicago (1-0 W) at United Center on April 13

The Predators began their run to the 2017 Stanley Cup Final by facing the Chicago Blackhawks in Round One of the postseason, and it only took one goal to take Game One. Viktor Arvidsson scored his second career playoff goal when he beat Corey Crawford in the first period and goaltender Pekka Rinne made 29 saves to earn his second career playoff shutout. It was Nashville's first road playoff shutout in franchise history and marked the first postseason win in club history when scoring just one goal.

GAME TWO

Nashville at Chicago (5-0 W) at United Center on April 15

Five different Predators found the back of the net and Pekka Rinne recorded his second consecutive shutout as Nashville blanked Chicago by a 5-0 final to take a 2-0 series lead. Ryan Ellis, Kevin Fiala, Harry Zolnierczyk and Colton Sissons all scored their first career playoff goals and Ryan Johansen added a goal and two assists to go along with 30 saves from Rinne. Nashville's five goals in Game Two set a franchise record for most goals in a road playoff game.

Kevin Fiala scored the game-winner in overtime to complete a Predators come back to defeat the Blackhawks 3-2 in Game Three and take a 3-0 series lead for the first time in franchise history. Two goals from Filip Forsberg in the third period forced overtime after the Preds went down 2-0 to the Blackhawks before Fiala ended it with his second goal in as many games. Fiala became the youngest player (20 years, 269 days) in franchise history to score an overtime goal in the playoffs. Nashville also overcame a multi-goal deficit in the third period to win a playoff game for the first time in club history.

GAME FOUR

Nashville versus Chicago (4-1 W) at Bridgestone Arena on April 20

Two goals from Roman Josi helped the Predators to their first sweep in franchise history as they defeated Chicago by a 4-1 final to take the series 4-0 and advance to the second round for the second consecutive season. Nashville became just the third team since 1974-75 (when the NHL introduced the conference format) to sweep the team with the best record in the conference in the opening round. The others: Edmonton swept Montreal in the 1981 Preliminary Round (best-of-five) and St. Louis swept Chicago in the 1993 Division Semifinals (best-of-seven). The Predators also became the 14th team in NHL history (and fifth in the past 38 years) to allow three goals against or fewer in a four game series. Only four teams in NHL history have surrendered fewer than three goals in a four-game series.

PLAYOFF NOTES

- WESTERN CONFERENCE SECOND ROUND -

GAME ONE
Nashville at St. Louis (4-3 W) at Scottrade Center on April 26
Vernon Fiddler scored the game-winner late in regulation and the Predators remained undefeated in the 2017 postseason as they defeated St. Louis by a 4-3 final in Game One to take a 1-0 series lead, the first such occurrence in the second round in club history. Colin Wilson, P.K. Subban and Filip Forsberg also found the back of the net for Nashville while Pekka Rinne improved to 5-0 with a 27-save performance. With a goal and two assists, Subban became the first defenseman in franchise history to record three points in a single playoff game.

GAME TWO
Nashville at St. Louis (3-2 L) at Scottrade Center on April 28
The Predators suffered their first loss of the 2017 postseason as they fell 3-2 to the Blues in Game Two. James Neal and Ryan Ellis tallied for Nashville but goals in the third period from Jori Lehtera and Vladimir Tarasenko evened the series for St. Louis. A goal and an assist marked Ellis's third career multipoint postseason game as he extended his point streak to five consecutive contests.

GAME THREE
Nashville versus St. Louis (3-1 W) at Bridgestone Arena on April 30
Ryan Ellis extended his point streak to six games and Cody McLeod tallied his first playoff goal as a member of the Predators as Nashville took a 2-1 series lead with a 3-1 win over the Blues. Roman Josi scored an insurance marker for Nashville in the third period and Pekka Rinne turned aside 22 shots for his sixth win of the postseason. Goals from Ellis and Josi brought the total output from the blue line to seven, tying a franchise record for most goals by defensemen in a single postseason, set one year earlier.

GAME FOUR
Nashville versus St. Louis (2-1 W) at Bridgestone Arena on May 2
The first 40 minutes were scoreless, but it was Ryan Ellis who converted first and then James Neal who scored what proved to be the game-winner as the Predators defeated the Blues 2-1 to put their opponents on the brink of elimination. The goal for Ellis gave him tallies in three consecutive games and upped his point streak to seven games, tying the longest streak in postseason franchise history. With the win, Nashville also became the first team to win eight consecutive home playoff games since the Chicago Blackhawks did it from June 22, 2013 to May 18, 2014.

GAME FIVE
Nashville at St. Louis (2-1 L) at Scottrade Center on May 5
The Predators were unable to eliminate the Blues on the road as St. Louis put together a 2-1 win to force Game Six. James Neal evened the score for Nashville when he potted his third of the postseason with a power-play goal in the second period, but Jaden Schwartz got the winner just 25 seconds into the final frame. Ryan Ellis was held pointless for the first time in seven games as he saw his franchise-tying streak come to an end.

GAME SIX
Nashville versus St. Louis (3-1 W) at Bridgestone Arena on May 7
For the first time in franchise history, the Predators advanced to the Western Conference Final, courtesy of a 2-1 win over St. Louis in Game Six to eliminate the Blues 4-2. After Paul Stastny gave his club an early 1-0 lead, Nashville scored three unanswered with goals from Roman Josi, Ryan Johansen and Calle Jarnkrok to punch their ticket to the next round.

PLAYOFF NOTES
2017 WESTERN CONFERENCE FINAL

- WESTERN CONFERENCE FINAL -

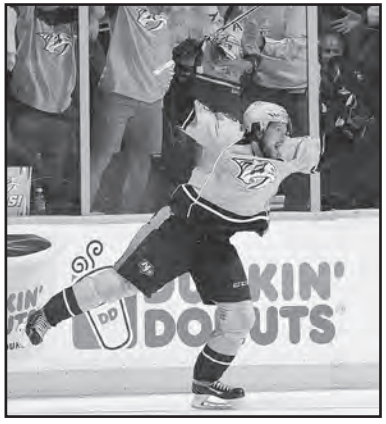
Nashville at Anaheim (3-2 OT W) at Honda Center on May 12
James Neal scored the winner in overtime as the Predators remained undefeated in Game Ones during the 2017 postseason – all on the road – with a 3-2 win over Anaheim in their first Western Conference Final game in team history. Filip Forsberg and Austin Watson also tallied in the contest that saw Pekka Rinne make 27 saves for his ninth win of the postseason. With 46 shots on goal, the Predators registered more than 45 shots in a playoff game for the fifth time in franchise history and second time this postseason (also Game Three vs. CHI: 49 SOG in 3-2 OT W). The franchise record for most shots in a playoff game is 54, established in Game One of the 2015 First Round vs. CHI (4-3 2OT L). It was Nashville's second postseason overtime win all-time against Anaheim; the Preds won Game Five of the 2011 series on a goal by Jerred Smithson.

GAME TWO
Nashville at Anaheim (5-3 L) at Honda Center on May 14
Ryan Johansen and James Neal gave the Predators an early 2-0 lead, but the Ducks stormed back for a 5-3 win in Game Two to even the series at 1-1. Filip Forsberg also added his fifth of the playoffs to make it 3-2 in the second before Anaheim added two more before the period was out, then a fifth tally in the final frame. With a goal and an assist in Game Two, Johansen tied the Nashville franchise record for points in a single postseason with 13 (3g-10a). Colin Wilson (2016 postseason) and Joel Ward (2011 postseason) shared the record with Johansen.

GAME THREE
Nashville versus Anaheim (2-1 W) at Bridgestone Arena on May 16
Roman Josi's power-play goal with less than three minutes to play in regulation kept the Predators undefeated at home in the postseason and gave them a 2-1 win over the Ducks in Game Three. After Corey Perry gave Anaheim a 1-0 lead in the second, Filip Forsberg evened the score with his sixth of the postseason and third in as many games before Josi struck at 17:17 of the third. Josi (5g-5a-10pts) and Ryan Ellis (4g-6a-10pts) each recorded their 10th point of the playoffs in Game Three to establish a record for points by a Predators defensemen in a single postseason. The win was Nashville's 10th consecutive postseason victory at home and marked the 15th instance in NHL history of a team winning at least 10 consecutive home playoff games, with Nashville being the 10th team to accomplish the feat in the League's expansion era (since 1967-68). The Predators joined the Avalanche (11-0 from 1996-97) and Red Wings (10-0 from 1997-98) as the only teams to win at least 10 consecutive home playoff games over the past 28 years.

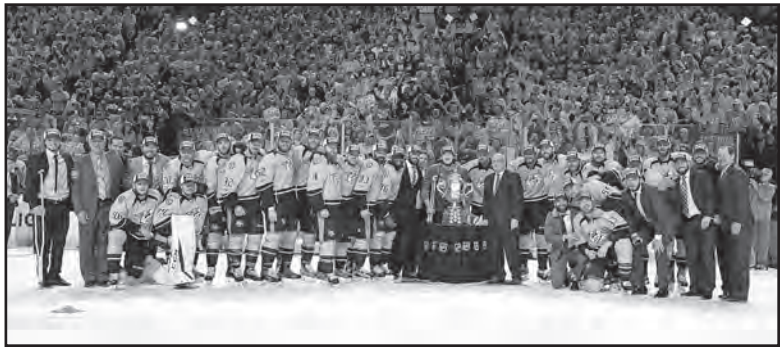
- WESTERN CONFERENCE FINAL -



GAME FOUR
Nashville versus Anaheim (3-2 OT L) at Bridgestone Arena on May 18
The Predators suffered their first home loss of the 2017 postseason when Corey Perry scored in overtime to give Anaheim a 3-2 win in Game Four and even the Western Conference Final at two games apiece. Nashville was trailing 2-0 with less than seven minutes to play in regulation, but P.K. Subban was the first to beat goaltender John Gibson before Filip Forsberg tied the game with 35 seconds to play and force overtime. It was Forsberg's fourth goal of the Conference Final and his fourth in as many games, making him just the second player in the past 25 years to score in each of the first four games of a Conference Final, joining Dustin Byfuglien, who did it in 2010 with Chicago vs. San Jose. With seven goals in the 2017 Stanley Cup Playoffs, Forsberg matched the franchise record for most in a single postseason, a mark set by Joel Ward in 2011. Forsberg's goals in four straight also set a postseason franchise record.

GAME FIVE
Nashville at Anaheim (3-1 W) at Honda Center on May 20
Without the services of top center Ryan Johansen - who was lost for the playoffs due to a thigh injury - the Predators came to within one win of advancing to the Stanley Cup Final with a 3-1 victory over the Ducks in Game Five. Anaheim got the game's first tally, but Colin Wilson scored on the power play at 19:19 of the second period, and then it was Pontus Aberg who deposited a rebound and scored his first career playoff goal at 11:01 of the third stanza to give his team the only lead they needed. Austin Watson added an empty netter to put the Ducks on the brink and send the Preds home with a 3-2 series lead. Filip Forsberg recorded an assist in Game Five to extend his point streak to six games, while Wilson's goal moved him into a five-way tie for the most postseason goals in franchise history with 13.

GAME SIX
Nashville versus Anaheim (6-3 W) at Bridgestone Arena on May 22
Behind a hat trick from Colton Sissons and 38 saves from Pekka Rinne, the Predators eliminated Anaheim and captured the Clarence S. Campbell Bowl to advance to the Stanley Cup Final for the first time in franchise history. Sissons scored his second of the game early in the third period to give Nashville a 3-1 lead, but Anaheim quickly tied the game before the period was halfway through. Then, with exactly six minutes to play in regulation, Sissons deposited his third of the game on a feed from Calle Jarnkrok before Filip Forsberg and Austin Watson added empty netters to clinch the Western Conference. With a goal and an assist in Game Six to extend his point streak to seven games (5g-3a-8pts), Forsberg matched a franchise playoff record, also achieved by Ryan Ellis in the 2017 postseason. Forsberg had 15 points (8g-7a) overall in the 2017 Stanley Cup Playoffs, the most goals and points in a single postseason in Predators history. Forsberg's goal in Game Six was his 14th postseason goal as a member of the Preds, a franchise record. Nashville, which ranked 16th in NHL's regular-season standings and qualified for the postseason as the second Wild Card team in the Western Conference (41-29-12, 94 points), became the third club seeded lowest in its conference to advance to the Stanley Cup Final since the League adopted the conference-based playoff format in 1994.



- STANLEY CUP FINAL -

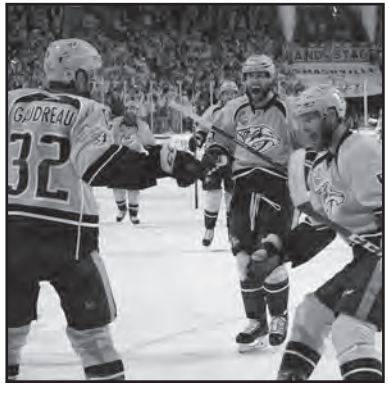
Nashville at Pittsburgh (5-3 L) at PPG Paints Arena on May 29
The Predators rallied to tie Game One of the Stanley Cup Final at 3-3 in the third period, but Pittsburgh ultimately prevailed by a 5-3 final, marking the first time in the 2017 playoffs Nashville lost the opening contest of a series. After falling behind 3-0 in the first period, Ryan Ellis, Colton Sissons and Frederick Gaudreau tallied for the Preds, including Gaudreau's tying goal at 13:29 of the third, but Jake Guentzel scored at 16:43 to put the Penguins back up for good. The Predators held the Penguins without a shot on goal for a 37-minute stretch of Game One, including a 9-0 advantage in the second period. They became the first team to hold an opponent to zero shots on goal in one period of a Stanley Cup Final game since the NHL began tracking that statistic in 1957-58.

GAME TWO
Nashville at Pittsburgh (4-1 L) at PPG Paints Arena on May 31
Pontus Aberg scored the lone goal for Nashville as they fell 4-1 to Pittsburgh in Game Two of the Stanley Cup Final. The loss marked the first time in the 2017 postseason that the Predators lost consecutive games.

GAME THREE
Nashville versus Pittsburgh (5-1 W) at Bridgestone Arena on June 3
Jake Guentzel gave the Penguins a 1-0 lead just 2:46 into Game Three, but Nashville scored five unanswered to collect their first Stanley Cup Final win in franchise history and take Game Three by a 5-1 final. Roman Josi, Frederick Gaudreau, James Neal, Craig Smith and Mattias Ekholm all found the back of the net for the Preds and Pekka Rinne bounced back to make 32 saves on the night. Josi, who factored on all three Nashville goals in the middle frame, registered his sixth tally of the playoffs, most among defensemen. He became the first blueliner to post three points in one period of a Stanley Cup Final game since Pittsburgh's Larry Murphy on May 23, 1991 vs. Minnesota (3a in 1st period). With the win, the Predators improved to 8-1 on home ice in the 2017 postseason.



GAME FOUR
Nashville versus Pittsburgh (4-1 W) at Bridgestone Arena on June 5
Thanks in part to another goal from Frederick Gaudreau, the Predators took Game Four of the Stanley Cup Final by a 4-1 final and evened the series at two games apiece. Gaudreau, along with Calle Jarnkrok, Viktor Arvidsson and Filip Forsberg, tallied for Nashville as the Preds outscored the Penguins by a 9-2 count in Games Three and Four at Bridgestone Arena. Gaudreau became just the second player in NHL history to score each of his first three career goals (regular season and playoffs) in the Stanley Cup Final, joining Chicago's John Harms in 1944 vs. Montreal. He also became just the third rookie to collect consecutive game-winning goals in the Stanley Cup Final since the NHL took sole possession of the trophy in 1926-27 - and the second to do so in this series (following Jake Guentzel). The other: Roy Conacher, who notched the winner for the Bruins in Games Three, Four and Five in 1939 vs. Toronto. The Predators became the 13th team to even the Stanley Cup Final at 2-2 after falling behind 2-0 in the series.

GAME FIVE
Nashville at Pittsburgh (6-0 L) at PPG Paints Arena on June 8
Three goals in the first period and three more in the second gave the Penguins a 6-0 win over the Predators in Game Five. Game Five was Nashville's 21st game of the 2017 postseason, continuing to set a franchise record and eclipsing the previous mark of 14, set in 2016.

GAME SIX
Nashville versus Pittsburgh (2-0 L) at Bridgestone Arena on June 11
Nashville's magical postseason run came to an end in Game Six of the Stanley Cup Final as the Penguins defeated the Predators 2-0 to capture their second consecutive championship. Former Predators forward Patric Hornqvist scored the game-winning goal for Pittsburgh.

The All-Star® Weekend was held Saturday, Jan. 30 and Sunday, Jan. 31, and included the NHL All-Star Skills Competition™ and a fan fair in addition to the NHL®All-Star Game.

FORD ICE CENTER

Ford Ice Center, which opened for public use in August 2014, was built as a provision of the June 2012 lease agreement between the city of Nashville and Bridgestone Arena. A component of the public-private partnership between Metro and the Nashville Predators, Ford Ice Center was built to help continue the growth of hockey and skating in Middle Tennessee. The facility's central location helps generate local economic development, which in turn increases the demand for nearby lodging, dining, shopping and entertainment.

Located in Antioch, Ford Ice Center houses two sheets of ice, eight locker rooms, four party rooms and more, providing an opportunity for players of all levels and ages more opportunities to participate in hockey and ice skating. Ford Ice Center is also connected to a six-acre park; this provides ample outdoor space for dry land training opportunities for a variety of work outs.

In addition to housing the Predators Youth Hockey initiatives like Get Out and Learn! (G.O.A.L!), Ford Ice Center is home to the Scott Hamilton Skating Academy. Hamilton, a longtime Franklin, Tennessee, resident and Olympic Gold Medalist, helps develop curriculum, make staffing decisions for the Academy and more.

With initiatives such as youth and adult hockey, "Learn to Skate" and public skating participants, friends and family, there is something for the whole family at Ford Ice Center. Since hosting the Nashville Predators Rookie Tournament in September 2014 (with the Florida Panthers, Tampa Bay Lightning and Boston Bruins) Ford Ice Center has hosted several nation-wide USA Hockey adult rec-league tournaments and skating showcases in addition to local and regional events.

ONE BELLEVUE PLACE

In March of 2017 the Nashville Predators announced the development of a new two-sheet ice rink at One Bellevue Place. This the second location the Preds have created to grow the sport of hockey through Middle Tennessee, the first being Ford Ice Center in Antioch. The Predators are now involved in three of Nashville's biggest recreational operations in Ford Ice Center, Centennial Sportsplex, and now Bellevue.

The Nashville Predators project the new Bellevue rink to operate with the same success as Ford Ice Center, resulting in two of the busiest rinks in North America calling Nashville home. This could not be done without the strong partnership the organization has with the Mayor's office, the Sports Authority, and Metro Parks and Recreation.

Inside the facility, guests can expect two full sheets of ice and a food court as well as a fitness center as part of the project, amongst many other elements. The Scott Hamilton Skating Academy will be operating out of the Bellevue location, to accommodate the growing program.

Projected ground breaking for the Bellevue development is Fall of 2017.

The rink will be the finishing touch to an already-elaborate development currently under construction at One Bellevue Place and couldn't have happened without the NHL, NHLPA, the Nashville Predators, the Sports Authority and the city of Bellevue working hard together to continue the development of an already-thriving Metro Parks and Recreation department formerly led by Nashville Parks Director Tommy Lynch and now guided by Interim Director Monique Odom.

One Bellevue Place retail space is 375,000 square feet and will open Fall 2017. Within the space, there will be 337 Class A apartments, which are currently under construction and started occupancy Summer 2017. A Hilton Home 2 Hotel with 111 rooms is currently under construction and will open at the end of the year.

CENTENNIAL SPORTSPLEX

222 25th Avenue North
Nashville, TN 37203
(615) 862-8480

The Thomas Frist Centennial Sportsplex is operated by the Metro Board of Parks and Recreation in Nashville. The facility was made possible by a landmark land exchange between Metro Parks and healthcare provider Hospital Corporation of America (HCA). The city exchanged 10 prime acres adjacent to Centennial Park for $12 million. The money was used to build the Sportsplex. During the summer of 2014, the ice arena at Centennial Sportsplex underwent major renovations, including replacing the ice coolant systems and installing new dasher boards and glass at Rink B.

The $20 million, 145,000 square-foot Sportsplex features a tennis center, a fitness center, an aquatics center and two full-size ice rinks. The aquatics center, named after Olympian Tracy Caulkins, has been the site of numerous U.S. Senior and Junior National Swim Meets, the YMCA National Swim Meet and, to date, still holds one of the fastest times ever swam for the men's 50-meter freestyle, set in the inaugural swim meet in February 1990 by Olympian Tom Jager.

The ice arena opened February 1, 1999 and is home to the Nashville Predators' practice facility, the Nashville Youth Hockey League and the Nashville Figure Skating Club. The building holds offices for Predators coaching staff and hockey operations department, a full dressing room, weight room and an athletic training wing.

In addition, Centennial Sportsplex hosts adult hockey leagues, figure skating, numerous public sessions, figure skating competitions, ice shows, hockey tournaments and camps. In 1997, it was one of the sites for the USFSA National Championships.

Centennial Sportsplex offers instructional classes in skating, swimming and tennis, as well as public usage in each of those areas. The ice arena and aquatic area also offers special rates for parties, schools and group events. For further information, contact the Centennial Sportsplex at (615) 862-8490 or visit nashville.gov/sportsplex.

HOW TO FIGURE

Assist: An assist is awarded to the player or players (maximum of two) who touched the puck prior to the goal, provided no defender plays or possesses the puck in between.

Game played: A player receives credit for playing in a game if: i) he steps on the ice during time played or; ii) serves any penalty.

Game-winning goal: After the final score has been determined, the goal which leaves the winning club one goal ahead of its opponent is the game-winning goal (example: if Team A beats Team B 8-3, the player scoring the fourth goal for Team A receives credit for the game-winning goal).

Goal: A goal is awarded to the last player on the scoring club to touch the puck prior to the puck entering the net.

Goals-against average: Multiply goals allowed (GA) by 60 and divide by minutes played (MINS).

Goaltender: A goaltender receives a "W" for a win in regulation, overtime or shootout; an "L" for a loss in regulation; or an "OT" for a loss in overtime or shootout.

Penalty-killing pct.: Subtract total number of power-play goals allowed from total number of shorthanded situations to get total number of power-plays killed. Divide the total number of power-plays killed by the total number of shorthanded situations.

Plus-minus: A player receives a "plus" if he is on the ice when his club scores an even-strength or shorthanded goal. He receives a "minus" if he is on the ice for an even-strength or shorthanded goal scored by the opposing club. The difference in these numbers is considered the player's plus-minus statistic.

Power-play goal: A goal scored by a club while it has a manpower advantage due to an opponent's penalty. Following are some examples of what is and is not considered a power-play goal:

- if a club has an advantage on a minor penalty starting at 2:02 of the period and it scores at 4:02, the goal is not a power-play goal.
- if a club scores on a delayed penalty, the goal is not a power-play goal.
- if a club has an advantage due to a five-minute major or match penalty, that club is always credited with having one more advantage than the number of power-play goals it scores during that advantage, because the penalty does not expire. A new advantage begins after each power-play goal. For example, if Team A scores three goals during a major penalty, it is credited with four advantages.
- if a club is on a power-play for any length of time, it is considered to have had an advantage.
- if a minor penalty is incurred by a club on a power-play due to a major penalty, a new advantage is given to that club when its minor penalty expires, provided the opponent's major penalty is still in effect.

Power-play percentage: Total number of power-play goals divided by total number of power-play opportunities.

Save percentage: Subtract goals allowed (GA) from shots against (SA) to determine saves. Then divide saves by shots-against.

Shooting percentage: Divide the number of goals scored by the number of shots taken.

Shorthanded goal: A goal scored by a club while it is at a manpower disadvantage. The same cases apply for shorthanded as for power-play goals, but in the opposite manner.

Shot on goal: If a player shoots the puck with the intention of scoring and if that shot would have gone in the net had the goaltender not stopped it, the shot is recorded as a "shot on goal."

Shutout: If two goaltenders combine for a shutout, neither receives credit for the shutout. Instead it is recorded as a club shutout.

Tenths of a second: If a penalty or goal occurs in the last minute, the time is rounded off to the previous second (ex: if a penalty is called with 12.4 seconds left in a period, the time is indicated as 19:47 and not 19:48.)

Coaches' record: A coach receives a "W" for a win in regulation, overtime or shootout; an "L" for a loss in regulation; or an "OT" for a loss in overtime or shootout.

 NOTE: No individual skater/goaltender statistics apply for the shootout

NAME, LOGO & SWEATERS

The Predators unveiled their logo, a saber-toothed tiger, in Nashville's downtown First American Center on September 25, 1997, 26 years after a fang and foreleg bone of a saber-toothed tiger were found in a cave just below the building's address. In May of 1971, excavation began at the downtown Nashville site of what today is the 28-story Regions Center. Further digging revealed a cave containing the nine-inch fang and a foreleg bone of a saber-toothed tiger, extinct for at least 10,000 years. Radiocarbon tests on revealed that it could have possibly been one of the last of its breed to exist. Scientists believe that some time during the last glacial period (15,000-80,000 years ago) part of the cave was the den of the saber-toothed tiger.

The discovery, made in August 1971, marked only the fifth of its kind in North America. For more than 35 years, the prehistoric artifacts were housed in the building above their excavation site, until November 2016, when they were presented to the team for housing inside Bridgestone Arena.

The saber-toothed tiger logo was co-designed by JDK Design of Burlington, Vermont and Dye, Van Mol & Lawrence of Nashville.
The naming of the Predators was a direct reflection of the fans of Nashville and their choice.

During the public events and through focus groups and related surveys, fans selected the name "Predators" by a two-to-one margin over the second choice. On Nov. 13, 1997, the saber-toothed tiger logo was unveiled for the first time with the Predators insignia attached to it. On Feb. 12, 1998, then-Head Coach Barry Trotz and Assistant Coach Paul Gardner unveiled the Predators' inaugural home and away jerseys at Cool Springs Galleria.

On Nov. 21, 2001, the Predators debuted a third jersey with a 4-3 win against the Chicago Blackhawks at Bridgestone Arena. The jersey featured an "animated" saber-tooth tiger logo on the crest and tiger skulls on the shoulders. It was retired following the 2006-07 season.

For the 2007-08 season, the Predators, along with the other 29 NHL teams, introduced the Rbk EDGE Uniform System to further meet the performance demands of today's player.

The Predators would debut a new third jersey on Nov. 27, 2009 against the St. Louis Blues. The sweaters, which features a vintage-inspired lace-up front, a subtle checkerboard pattern lining the bottom of the jersey, and a bolder and more simplified color scheme, were worn for the past two seasons, but will be set aside in 2011-12, making way for the first logo and color scheme redesign in franchise history.

The logo and uniforms for the 2011-12 season were designed to develop a powerful, long-term brand message and help infuse new life into the Nashville Predators imagery and brand with a more contemporary, aggressive, streamlined logo that still maintains the basic Pred Head concept. A new secondary logo was also designed to represent the state flag of Tennessee and Nashville's Music City heritage simultaneously, with a guitar pick shape incorporating the three stars of the state's three grand divisions – West, Middle and East. The "Predators Gold" sweaters create a distinctive, dominant, bold look that balances traditional elements of classic uniforms, with those unique to Nashville – guitar strings in the numbering and lettering, fangs in the neck area and piano keys on the inside of the collars.

Another redesign came for the 2017-18 as adidas unveiled the new ADIZERO Authentic NHL jerseys and uniforms for all 31 NHL teams. The lighter, cooler, stronger designs help solidify the team's visual identity within the league by placing more emphasis on their signature Gold color. The adidas design team worked with the Predators on both the home and away uniforms to simplify them, and use the signature Gold in a bolder and more prevalent way. In addition, the sleeve numbers have been adjusted to include the same six-string graphic motif as the current back numbers.

NASHVILLE HOCKEY HISTORY

In the spring of 1962, a small group of businessmen led by David Patterson put up $125,000 to place a team in the Eastern Hockey League. The Dixie Flyers, named after a passenger train said to be the oldest in the South, were placed in the nine-team league. The purple-and-gold colored Flyers played their first regular-season home game (a 2-0 loss to Knoxville) on Oct. 27, 1962 at the Municipal Auditorium. The Flyers endured a rough opening season, winning 16 games and qualifying for the playoffs, only to be swept in three games by Greensboro. However, it didn't take long for the Flyers to make their presence felt.

After losing in the 1965 Finals, the Flyers went on to win EHL Walker Cup championships in 1966 and 1967, the only two professional ice hockey titles in the city's history. John McLellan, who went on to coach the Toronto Maple Leafs, coached the Flyers. The Flyers swept each of their three playoff series' in 1966. They won the championship by going 11-0 in the playoffs and becoming the first team in minor league ice hockey ever to march through the playoffs undefeated.

In 1967, Patterson's group sold the team to a business group headed by Mark Parrish. The Cinderella '69 team reached the Finals, but lost in seven tough games to the Clinton (N.Y.) Comets in the Walker Cup Finals. Shortly after, the Flyers' attendance slipped dramatically. Barely able to scrape up enough funds to start the 1970-71 campaign, the Flyers folded following the season.

Hockey returned to Nashville when baseball guru Larry Schmittou, who brought minor league baseball back to Nashville in 1978 after a 15-year absence, did the same for hockey in July 1981. Thus the South Stars were founded, a team that played in the Central Hockey League and had the Minnesota North Stars as its NHL affiliate. The logo was a hockey player swinging a guitar representing the Music City while using yellow, orange and green.

The 1981-82 team finished fourth in its division and lost to Wichita, 3-0, in the first round of the playoffs. Gene Ubriaco, who went on to coach the NHL's Pittsburgh Penguins and 1992 Italian Olympic team, coached the Stars.

Under new ownership (Randy Van Meter), the Stars pulled out of the CHL in 1982 and entered the old Atlantic Coast Hockey League (ACHL), playing teams geographically closer to Nashville. The Stars finished 11-43-4 and suffered through a season of low attendance. They began the following season, only to fold in December 1983.
Two Knoxville wrestling promoters, Bob Polk and Ron Fuller, rescued the sport five years later. They purchased an East Coast Hockey League franchise in January 1989. The Knights, with popular ex-South Stars player Archie Henderson as coach, attracted an astonishing 150,000 fans their first season (1989-90). While wearing red and blue uniforms adorned with the logo of a knight's mask, they made the playoffs but lost in the first round. During the 1990-91 season, Peter Horachek, former Predators assistant coach, served as the Knights' head coach and director of hockey operations.

The Knights went through three ownership changes in their seven-year history. They twice went to the semifinals of the ECHL playoffs - in 1993 under ex-NHL standout and coach Nick Fotiu, and in 1995 under coach Mark Kumpel.

Perhaps the top Knights highlight came during the 1992-93 season when Trevor Jobe scored what is still a minor hockey league record 85 goals, with 76 assists, for 161 points and 12 hat tricks in his MVP season.

In the spring of 1996, after failed negotiations for a lease agreement with the Auditorium, the Knights departed to Pensacola, Fla. There, they were renamed the Ice Pilots.

Hockey was revived again with the arrival of the NightHawks in the fall of 1996. The Central Hockey League team only won 12 games, the worst in CHL history. The red-and-blue NightHawks' logo was a hawk showing its claws. Nashvillian Mike Friedman purchased the team in the summer of 1997. In a renewed salute to the old Dixie Flyers, Friedman changed both the name to the Ice Flyers and the colors to blue and gray. David Lohrie led the team to a 41-win season and a second-place finish in the CHL East and was named coach of the year. The team lost in the semi-finals to the eventual CHL Champ Columbus in April 1998. The impending arrival of the Predators led Friedman to move the franchise to Albany, Ga.

This closed the book on three separate chapters, a combined 21 years, of minor league hockey in Nashville, starting and ending with the team named the Flyers. Former Predators President Jack Diller is well aware and appreciative of Nashville's hockey pioneers.

"The team and sport obviously made a significant impact on many people here in Middle Tennessee. Other teams such as the South Stars, Knights, NightHawks and Ice Flyers also enjoyed varying degrees of success – all of which helped fuel the excitement for the NHL and arrival of the Predators," Diller said.
